New Hopes In Lindbergh Baby Search

Missing Baby of Fliers Stated To Be Safe and Well

New York News Says Negotiations For Return of Boy in Final Stage, But Police at Lindbergh Home Say They Know of No Such Negotiations

LINER SEARCHED AT PLYMOUTH, ENG.

Police Say They Have No Knowledge of Morris Rosner, With Spokesmen in Underworld, Being in Contact With the Abductors

Associated Press
Hopewell, N.J., March 10.—Hot tips sent the hope gauge of the Lindbergh baby searchers high to-day.

There were two statements that Charles Augustus Lindbergh Jr. was safe and well.

One was made by Governor

Moore of New Jersey.

"It is my personal opinion," he said, "that the baby will come back alive and safe. I don't know when, but whenever it is, I feel sure he will be in good health."

He would not say his opinion was predicated on any information not made known to the public.

The other statement was printed in The New York Daily News this morning and credited "an unimpeachable source close to Col. Lindbergh's family."

The News added it had learned from the same source that contact had been established with the abductors and that negotiations for return of the baby now were in the final stage.

MR. ROSNER AIDS
A mysterious Morris Rosner, "whose connections extend deeply into the underworld," was quartered at the Lindbergh home, The News said, and was directing the negotiations which, according to the baby's abductors, were now near conclusion. It was Rosner, the paper continued, who was able to induce Salvy Spitalo and Irving Bitz, gang figures, to act as go-betweens in negotiations dealing with the child's release.

Rosner was recommended to the Lindberghs "by three men, including a cabinet officer and a congressman," The News said.

The newspaper account set forth that Rosner had moved into a wing of the Lindbergh estate near here two days after the baby was abducted (which was March 1), and installed his men, necessitating the moving of the state troops to the Lindbergh garage.

Rosner's connection with the underworld were said to be extensive and powerful.

The news went on to say that Rosner had made several motor trips to and from the Lindbergh estate on recent days, accompanied by Col. Henry S. Breckenridge, Col. Lindbergh's counsel and confidant.

NO POLICE INFORMATION

State police, confronted with the story published by The Daily News, said they knew nothing of any Rosner at the Lindbergh home, nor of any negotiations "in the final stage" for the baby's return.

From a source it regarded as reliable, the Associated Press heard yesterday evening that the abductors had advised Col. Lindbergh they did not as yet feel it safe to deal with them. When they deemed the time "proper and safe," they were reported to have advised Col. Lindbergh, they would deal with him.

NURSE QUESTIONED

The press conference with state police early to-day revealed that the authorities had not as yet eliminated Betty Gow, the child's nurse, "from any consideration."

When asked if a definite statement could be made in this connection, the reply was "not at this time."

In reply to a question: "Has the baby been found and taken to an institution?" the answer was "no."

LINER SEARCHED

Plymouth, Eng., March 10.—Police searched the liner Ile de France on its arrival here this afternoon from New York on the possibility the Lindbergh child might be aboard. They found nine babies, but all were satisfactorily identified.

Associated Press
Hopewell, N.J., March 10.—Rumors that the Lindbergh baby had been found within five miles of this village or that the child was being brought in on a train from Chicago were denied from the Lindbergh home to-day.

In accordance with the procedure established by police, the press submitted a list of questions about the case this morning.

The first was: "Has baby been found five miles from Hopewell?"
The police answered "no."
Another question read: "Is baby

LINDBERGH LEAD PROVES FAILURE

New Haven, Conn., March 10.—Tony Meslo, forty-five, held since Monday while state police investigated a story he had been overheard discussing the Lindbergh baby, was released to-day.

Not only did Meslo deny the conversation, but he also said he was not aware Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had a son.

PLOT STORY IN B.C. DENIED

New Jersey Police Know Nothing of Lindbergh Abduction Scheming at Vancouver

Hopewell, N.J., March 10.—Among questions submitted by the newspaper reporters to the police directing Lindbergh baby search to-day was the following:

"Do the police have any information the kidnapping plot originated in Vancouver, B.C., Canada?"

"No," was the answer.

"It was denied, in answer to another query, that Col. Lindbergh was on the verge of a nervous collapse."

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 10.—Investigation made in Vancouver during the last few days by United States secret service men in connection with the Lindbergh baby abduction in New Jersey may result in an early arrest in the United States, it is reported here.

Although the two United States police officers who came to Vancouver to question Mrs. J. Vanderveg, occupant of a houseboat on Burrard Inlet, refused to make any statement before they left Tuesday afternoon for Toronto, it was reported to-day they had uncovered an important trail.

The federal operatives were assisted by Royal Canadian Mounted police officers who came to Vancouver to question Mrs. Vanderveg, who was reported to have been a friend of Betty Gow, Lindbergh nurse, was asked many questions by the visitors and the houseboat was searched.

NO STATEMENT

Neither Royal Canadian Mounted Police nor Mrs. Vanderveg would make a statement to-day regarding the matter.

The United States consular office here was inclined to believe, however, there would be no new developments from the Vancouver visit. It was just a matter of checking every possibility, it was said.

K. Vanderveg told officers she did not know Betty Gow, who is reported to have visited Vancouver three years ago. The United States officers mentioned to Blaine reported they had investigation here and have not made any statement from across the line.

Economy Moves of C.N.R. Are Reported

Commons Committee Is Told of New Check on Expenditures By Officials and Other New Rules

Ottawa, March 10.—The Canadian National Railways have inaugurated a system for controlling traveling, hotel and other expenses of their officials which constitutes a check on these disbursements.

Salary cuts and lay-offs arranged for in the interests of economy will effect a saving of approximately $2,200,000 a year.

A resolution providing a life annuity for Sir Henry Thornton, president, if at any time he should retire from active management of the railway system, has been rescinded.

Payment of fees to officials of the Canadian National by subsidiary companies have been discontinued.

The foregoing are the high spots of a document which was laid before the Commons committee on railways and shipping to-day by R. B. Hanson, Conservative, York-Sunbury, N.B., chairman. Signed by seven members of the board of directors of the Canadian National, it is in the nature of a reply to recommendations for economy made by the committee on railways and shipping at the last session of Parliament.

The Commons committee last year recommended a review of all salaries of officials of the system above $5,000. It condemned charging up large

Country From Which Lindbergh Baby Was Spirited

The picture above, taken from an airplane, gives an impression of the region in New Jersey in which stands the home of Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh. The road over which the abductors fled in an automobile with little Charles A. Jr. at places leads through woods, the home being in an isolated position, four miles from the village of Hopewell.

SALARY CUTS FOR TEACHERS

School Board Budget Will Be Lower Than Last Year After Reductions

Cut Is on Five Per Cent Basis For Three Months; Ten Per Cent For Rest of Year

Negotiations between representatives of the city teaching staffs and school trustees in respect of salary reductions concluded yesterday evening on a basis whereby the teachers agreed to accept a five per cent cut for the three months from April 1 to June 30, when their salary agreement with the board expires.

For the last four months of the year a 10 per cent reduction will be effective, but this will come under any new agreement which may be made between the two bodies.

ONTARIO TOWN SCENE OF FIRE

Building in Dunnville Swept By Flames; Loss More Than $50,000

Dunnville, Ont., March 10.—Fire which broke out in the basement of the Camille-Kinder Block early this morning blazed for more than six hours and inflicted damage totaling more than $50,000.

The block, a two-story structure, erected only last year, housed the Camille-Kinder restaurant, the Chainway stores, with the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company store adjoining. The cause of the blaze is not known.

INTEREST CUT FOR VERNON

Vernon, B.C., March 10.—The bank interest rate on civil loans, at first announced to be 6 1/2 per cent, has been accepted at 6 1/4.

The city of Vernon's financial position is so good that presentation of it—and a determination to offer 5 per cent interest on tax payments secured the reduction.

OTTAWA SENDS RELIEF MONEY

Unemployment Committee Told $500,000 Now on Way From East

Victoria to Receive Nearly $16,000 on Relief Account

Another $500,000 from Ottawa is now on its way to Victoria to ease up the unemployment relief crisis, which has developed between the provincial government and the municipalities.

E. D. Johnson, Provincial Deputy Minister of Finance, appeared unexpectedly this morning before the unemployment investigating committee at the Parliament Buildings and made the announcement. He read the statement received to-day from Harry H. Ford, director of Dominion unemployment relief at Ottawa, with the copy of an order-in-council passed on March 2, authorizing the advance to B.C.

Out of the $500,000, a sum of $324,546 will be distributed among municipalities that have sums of money owing to them through the provincial government on Dominion account. This will pretty well clean up such accounts outstanding up to the middle of February.

CLEAR UP DIFFICULTIES
Actual payment of the cheques from the provincial treasury to the municipalities will be made almost immediately. Officials explained this money would largely clear away all the present municipal difficulties.

"The situation is so far as the municipalities are concerned is that the province is paying the provincial share of the municipal expenditures, and financing the municipalities for the municipal share of the Dominion proportion of the municipal expenditures unpaid," said the statement in the wording of the order-in-council from Ottawa read by Mr. Johnson.

"The committee of the Privy Council, therefore, on the recommendation of the Minister of Labor advised in order that the municipalities be made to receive payment of the Dominion proportion of the municipal expenditures covered by the agreement, that a further advance be made to the province of B.C. for the purpose of enabling the province to remit to the municipalities the amount expended by the municipalities scheduled to-day from Harbour Hill Prison by order of the new Valera regime."

He was Prime Minister in 1916 and 1917, but was forced out as a result of a defeat at Caporetto in October, 1917.

Edmonton, March 10.—"I understand this meeting was called by Saskatchewan for the discussion of unemployment relief measures," Premier Brownlee said when asked about the Calgary inter-provincial conference Saturday. He did not state what Alberta representative would be present.

PAOLO BOSELLI DIES IN ROME

Rome, March 10.—Paolo Boselli, wartime Premier of Italy, died today at the age of ninety-three.

He was Prime Minister in 1916 and 1917, but was forced out as a result of a defeat at Caporetto in October, 1917.

CREW OF JAPAN SHIP RESCUED

Forty Sailors Saved By U.S. Destroyer While Freighter Burns Off Philippines

Manila, March 10.—The destroyer Tracy, racing ahead of four other vessels of the United States Navy, saved forty or more Japanese from the burning freighter Kaku Maru off the island of Mindoro to-night.

Responding to the distress call from the sea, the Tracy, the destroyer Macleish and the aircraft tenders Avocet and Jason dashed 100 miles south from their base at Cavite in time to rescue the crew of the Kaku Maru, enveloped in flames and smoke from its gasoline cargo.

MAY BE BEACHED
The Tracy, fastest of the rescue boats, flashed the fact by radio to Cavite that the crew had been taken off, and said the navy salvage vessel Pigeon was standing by to aid the Kaku Maru if possible. It was thought, however, it would be necessary to beach the Japanese vessel on Mindoro Island.

The Kaku Maru, former the Tosan Maru, was proceeding from Colombo, Ceylon, Singapore and Hongkong to the North China Sea when the fire broke out in number two hold.

Smoke rolled over the vessel quickly and the captain first planned to head for Cebu, a small Philippine island, but later decided to attempt to reach Palawan Bay, Mindoro.

The flames gained rapidly, however, and when the United States naval vessels appeared in response to the wireless call, the ship was abandoned.

The Kaku Maru's home port is Tsurumi, Japan. The vessel is a steel steamer of 3,863 gross tons.

DEPORTATIONS ARE DEBATED

Action Against Agitators Subject For Western Canadian Conference

Spokesmen of Four Provinces in Calgary to Debate Relief

Canadian Press
Vancouver, March 10.—Deportation of foreign agitators who are found making trouble in unemployed camps will be among the subjects discussed at the conference of western provincial representatives in Calgary on Saturday.

It is declared difficulties now experienced in handling the unemployed situation in camps is largely the fault of agitators, and among these are a number of foreigners.

Another subject which will be discussed is dual control of unemployment relief money. Under the present arrangements the federal government must first pass on proposals originating in the provinces and cities. It is claimed this method not only results in delays, but is a real obstacle to efficient handling of the situation in some instances. Each of the provinces, it is stated, knows best the most efficient method of handling its own particular problems.

A third matter which the conference will discuss is a general policy regarding unemployment payments and the almost constant problem of how to handle transients.

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, March 10.—Three of the four western governments had decided to-day to send representatives to an inter-provincial conference on unemployment relief at Calgary Saturday. Announcement was expected later to-day from Premier Bracken of Manitoba as to whether this province would be present.

Hon. R. W. Bruhn, Minister of Public Works of British Columbia, was to leave Vancouver to-day for Calgary, T. J. Macleish, Deputy Minister of Labor of Saskatchewan, will attend to represent the mid-prairie province, and either Hon. O. L. McPherson, Minister of Public Works or Hon. V. W. Smith, Minister of Railways, is expected to be named by the Alberta Government.

Unemployment relief measures are to be discussed by the conference.

Edmonton, March 10.—"I understand this meeting was called by Saskatchewan for the discussion of unemployment relief measures," Premier Brownlee said when asked about the Calgary inter-provincial conference Saturday. He did not state what Alberta representative would be present.

TEN DAYS FOR DRIVER OF CAR

Four-mile Hill Crash Has Aftermath in Court: Had Other Collisions

Ambrose Matthews, driver of the car which crashed into a telephone pole on the Four-mile Hill last Wednesday night, injuring three of its occupants, was sentenced to ten days imprisonment by Magistrate George Jay this morning in Provincial Police Court following conviction on a charge of driving while intoxicated.

Evidence that Mr. Matthews' car had collisions with two other cars before it struck the pole on the Four-mile Hill, injuring three of its occupants, was given at the hearing yesterday afternoon.

These crashes occurred on the Island Highway, about one and one-half miles north of the Four-mile Hill, on a curve between Burnside Road and Thetis Lake Road. Mr. Matthews' car was traveling south and the other cars north. It clipped the sides of them both. One was driven by Alex. Alan, of Colwood, and Mr. Matthews later paid for the damage, a bent mudguard.

BANK INTEREST PENALTY PROPOSAL VOTED DOWN

Ottawa, March 10.—The Commons committee on banking and commerce this afternoon defeated a proposed amendment to the Bank Act which sought to make it illegal for banks to charge more than 7 per cent interest.

The amendment, which was defeated on a registered vote of ten against five, was proposed by H. E. Spencer, U.P.A., Battle River, and would have made any violation of the 7 per cent maximum law an indictable offence subject to a fine not exceeding $500 for the bank and $100 for the officer or manager of the bank guilty of the violation.

Mr. Spencer declared the farmers of the prairies could not carry on under a burden of 8 and 9 per cent, and insisted public feeling in Alberta demanded immediate action.

When the chairman, R. C. Matthews, Conservative, Toronto East Centre, asked the committee if it wished to hear the bankers' side of the question from Beaudry Leman, former president of the Canadian Bankers' Association, who was present, William Irvine, U.P.A. Wetaskiwin, said he felt that if the bankers were to testify he should also bring farmers from Alberta to give their side of the question.

"I can bring 1,000 farmers here with notes signed for from 8 to 10 per cent," added Mr. Irvine.

In supporting Mr. Hanson's motion Dr. G. Stanley, Conservative, Calgary East, admitted the act needed amendment, but thought action should be reserved until next year. Loans the prairie farmers were going to get from the banks in the present year would "not be of much consequence," said Dr. Stanley.

Special Committee of Nineteen to Continue Work of Mediation Between the Japanese and Chinese at Shanghai and in Manchuria

U.S. NOTE OF JAN. 7 IS GIVEN SUPPORT

Resolution on Orient Prepared By Drafting Committee Will Be Discussed By Assembly's General Committee at Geneva Tomorrow

Canadian Press
Geneva, Switzerland, March 10.—A resolution affirming the League of Nations Assembly cannot recognize any treaty or any agreement obtained by means contrary to the League covenant was adopted to-day by the Assembly's drafting committee.

The resolution was circulated among the delegates with a view to discussion before the Assembly's general committee to-morrow. It would place the League's supreme organ in the same attitude toward Japanese occupation of parts of China as was taken by the United States in Secretary Stimson's note January 7.

The resolution calls on the great powers with interests at Shanghai to collaborate for the maintenance of order in the zone to be evacuated by the Japanese. The Assembly on March 4 adopted a resolution looking toward Japanese troop retirement.

IN MEDIATION FIELD
The drafting committee also decided on a special committee of nineteen members, including the twelve powers on the League Council and Assembly President Hymans, to continue the work of mediation and to keep informed about the progress of the peace efforts.

The resolution made it clear the Assembly considered itself competent to deal with the entire Japanese-Chinese problem, the Manchurian phase of it as well as Shanghai.

It proposed to ask the World Court for an advisory opinion on the conflict.

The Assembly's committee will report to the Assembly at a plenary session not later than May 1.

CODE CHANGE IS DISCUSSED

Canadian Press.
Sudbury, Ont., March 10.—During a political meeting here yesterday evening, Mitchell F. Hepburn, M.P. for West Eglon, Ont., and Ontario Liberal leader, was asked by Martin Parker, editor of the local Finnish daily newspaper, Vapaus, to explain the Liberal policy in connection with the anti-communist section 98 of the Criminal Code. Mr. Hepburn answered by pointing to the vote in the Commons last Monday when a bill offered by J. S. Woodworth, Winnipeg Laborite, seeking to tone down that section, was defeated by the Conservatives. The Liberals had voted for the Woodworth bill, Mr. Hepburn said.

Parker also asked if the Liberal Party was in favor of the release of the eight Communists, recently convicted at Toronto and imprisoned on Wellington, N.Z., March 10.—A motion of non-confidence in the coalition government proposed by Edmund Holland, leader of the Labor opposition, was defeated in the House of Representatives yesterday by a vote of forty-eight to twenty-six, after which the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne was adopted.

CHARGES OF BELONGING TO AN ILLEGAL ASSEMBLY

EXPERTS DIFFER ON SIGNATURE

Commission in Ottawa Hears Evidence on Disputed Name in Gypsum Queen Case

Ottawa, March 10.—Eldridge W. Stein, graphologist of New York City and Maurice New Jersey, a co-worker of the veteran Osborne, yesterday gave it as his conclusion the disputed signature in the Gypsum Queen case was genuine. Two previous experts, Arthur B. Farmer, Toronto, and P. D. Jacob, Ottawa, had just completed testimony in which they each expressed a conviction the signature on exhibit No. 7 was an "uncommonly clever imitation."

WANTS HELP

Turning more specifically to unemployment questions, Dr. Manion made a plea for united parliamentary efforts. "Instead of the capricious criticism in which they have indulged," he said, "they should stand shoulder to shoulder with us in an endeavor to help us solve the problem, instead of doing everything they can to block us," he said.

STRIKE CLASHES SEEN IN SPAIN

Cordoba, Spain, March 10.—A general strike was declared to-day, although shops remained open. The General Labor Union instructed the workers not to join the strike, it was learned. Several strikers attacked a train in which two agitators were being transferred to Madrid. Guards fired on the strikers, dispersing them. Ten others were arrested.

SALARY DISCUSSION

Saskatoon, Sask., March 10.—Policies of the Independent Labor Party and its allies, the Farmer Parties, clashed yesterday evening when at a meeting of the Saskatoon Trades and Labor Council the Labor delegates vigorously protested the recent action of the U.P.A. members in the Legislature supporting the Dominion Government's wage reduction policy. It was decided to write Robert Gardiner, Commons leader of the U.P.A. group, asking how the local labor council, opposed to salary cuts, could explain this attitude of an allied body.

LIVELY TILT IN THE COMMONS

Woodworth, Winnipeg Laborite, Describes Bennett as "Millionaire Premier"

Manion Makes Statements and Has to Withdraw Some of Them

Ottawa, March 10.—The Commons was thrown into a tumultuous scene yesterday by the three-letter word, "lie." J. S. Woodworth, Labor, Winnipeg north centre, hurled the little word and then refused to withdraw it. The blood of Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways, was stung and almost before the House realized it, a parliamentary hornet's nest was stirred, and Dr. Manion was required to withdraw several remarks he made.

MILLIONAIRE PREMIER
The Winnipeg Laborite first roused the ire of government supporters by referring to Premier Bennett as the "millionaire Prime Minister" and picturing him "surrounded by a heavy guard" and "undertaking to lecture" a deputation of unemployed men. This stirred government supporters to cries of "shame!" and "withdraw!"

But when he charged Conservatives with "implying that people who are out of work to-day do not want to work—which is a lie," a regular parliamentary battle began. "Withdraw!" shouted government supporters.

"I refuse to withdraw," insisted Mr. Woodworth.

A general hubbub arose in the House and members trooped into the chamber from the adjoining lobbies. Speaker George Black ruled "the inference is not parliamentary and should be withdrawn."

ADDED AN "IF"
Mr. Woodworth again refused. Points of order and interjections punctuated the next few minutes. Finally the Winnipeg Laborite prefaced his statement with the two-letter word "if," making it hypothetical rather than a statement of fact, and escaped the Speaker's ruling.

Then Dr. Manion entered the fray. But he, likewise, ran foul of parliamentary rules. First he called Mr. Woodworth a "demagogue," and was forced to withdraw. Next he accused the Labor leader of making a "false statement" relating to the Prime Minister. That also was taken back. Then the sentence was changed to "a statement not in accordance with the facts," but that also was unparliamentary, ruled the Speaker.

Another angle then was adopted by Dr. Manion. He said he knew of only one country of which Mr. Woodworth ever has a good word to say—Russia.

The Labor leader "has listed in this House many times that he is not a Communist—he has stated that and I accept his statement—but I do say that if he were a Communist, he would faithfully follow the line of the fair game."

WANTS HELP
Turning more specifically to unemployment questions, Dr. Manion made a plea for united parliamentary efforts. "Instead of the capricious criticism in which they have indulged," he said, "they should stand shoulder to shoulder with us in an endeavor to help us solve the problem, instead of doing everything they can to block us," he said.

The House was considering the government resolution to extend until May 1 the life of the Unemployment Relief Act of last session—the "blank cheque" legislation. The debate was not completed and was sent over to to-day.

ON DUMP HEAPS
Mr. Woodworth declared the Prime Minister had objected to a "dole" and "absentment insurance." The government had adopted a worse policy than that in the "hand-out" system which was being followed. People were living on the "dump heaps" and going in and out of missions and other people were being demoralized by "charity."

Some people had wealth and others were out of work, but neither was due to virtue but to social conditions or "arrangements of society."

"When the millionaire Prime Minister of this country," he began, "saw 'Box boy' and 'Shame' and 'Order' were heard among the Conservative ranks of protest which broke out at the remark of the Labor member."

The country was reaching a state, Mr. Woodworth said, where it could not meet the dividends which were being demanded by those with wealth and at the same time pay wages.

HOLDERS OF BONDS
Dr. Manion said he had taken the trouble to check up holders of Dominion bonds. He had found 218,000 Canadians had bonds under $2,000 in value. These were not wealthy people; they were thrifty people who had saved money and invested it in a small way in bonds. Should they be condemned for their thrift and saving? They were not millionaires, he said. They were poor people.

Two other members, both from Ontario, locked horns during the sitting. F. G. Sanderson, Liberal, South Perth, accused the province, and especially Ontario, with "playing politics" in the administration of unemployment relief money. This charge was denied by Dr. Peter McGibbon, Conservative, Muskoka.

"In by-elections," said Mr. Sanderson, "to my knowledge, on the day of polling, with hundreds of men unemployed, when they went to the polls to mark their ballot, they were met outside by Conservatives and warned if they voted against the Queen's Park candidate, they could take it for granted they would get no money for relief." Queen's Park is the section of Toronto in which the Ontario Parliament Buildings stand.

Referring to the "Conservative political machine" in Ontario, the Liberal whip said: "It is gannied by officials of the highways department, officials of the liquor control board, officials who have to do with old age pensions, officials who have to do with mothers' allowances and officials of that great public institution that we have in the province of Ontario—the Hydro-electric Commission."

A blanket denial of this charge was made by Dr. McGibbon. Administration of unemployment relief funds in Ontario was not tainted with political partisanship, he said, and could bear scrutiny from any quarter.

In pressing for particulars of the partisanship charges, Dr. Manion said the Liberal whip had "said either too much or not enough." If detailed charges were in the mind of Mr. Sanderson, they should be made, otherwise blanket assertions should not be made.

STATEMENTS BY TWO SENATORS

McDougald and Raymond Are Heard By Senate Beauharnois Committee

Ottawa, March 10.—At no time, directly or indirectly, as chairman of the Montreal Harbor Board, as a member of the national advisory committee on the St. Lawrence waterway, as a senator of Canada or as a member of the special committee of the Senate, have I allowed my private interests to interfere with my public duties, nor have I ever, speaking from my place in the Senate or elsewhere, knowingly made incorrect or untruthful statements, and I respectfully request this committee to so declare.

That statement of Senator Wilfred Laurier McDougald of Montreal, delivered before the Senate committee investigating Beauharnois yesterday afternoon, was the high light of a session which saw him and Senator Donat Raymond of Montreal testifying as to their connection with the colossal power project. Dr. McDougald's declaration was made preliminary to his being sworn as a witness, but immediately afterward he took the oath and made a reaffirmation of the statement.

The senator reviewed his early connection with R. A. C. Henry, former vice-president of Beauharnois and part owner with him of the Sterling Industrial Corporation. That was the company which capitalized at $5,000, was subsequently sold to Beauharnois for a "resale value" of $1,000,000.

REPORT OF 1929
The senator subsequently became a member of the national advisory council on the St. Lawrence waterway, which adopted the report of the joint engineering board in January, 1929. That report favored a development on the north shore of the river.

"In concurring I gave no consideration whatever to any possible rights that might have belonged to the Sterling Corporation by reason of its applications," said Senator McDougald.

"These rights were limited to the south shore, and it may here be remarked that they were adversely affected by the report in question, as a development of power on the north shore would necessarily have precluded any similar development on the south shore."

He related his purchase of the late Winfield B. Sifton's part interests in the first Beauharnois syndicate late in May, 1928. The sale of Sterling had been concluded in December of that year, when he was in England.

"It was an entirely fair and open transaction, agreed to after full discussion, in which I took part," the senator said.

Referring to the statements he had made in the Senate on April 19, 1928, Dr. McDougald insisted he had had no interest in Beauharnois until a month later.

EVIDENCE GIVEN EARLIER
Evidence was given earlier yesterday afternoon by Senator Donat Raymond, who denied categorically he had ever used his influence in Ottawa to further the Beauharnois project. He told of his association with the first syndicate, his interest therein having been stimulated by Frank P. Jones of Montreal, a financier in whom he had had great confidence.

His investment in Beauharnois had been about $20,000 for 3,200 part interests. Eventually disposing most of his holdings, he had cleared a profit of $225,000, plus the retention of about 14,000 common shares.

Senator Raymond had not been active in the operations of the syndicate, although from time to time he had had conversations respecting it with R. E. Geoffrion, Montreal lawyer, he said. Frank P. Jones had repeatedly requested him to lend his assistance, but the senator felt he could do nothing to help and consequently had done nothing.

Stevens Optimistic Again on Outlook
Ottawa, March 10.—"It has often been said and with truth that Canada has weathered the world depression better than the United States," says a statement issued to-day by H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce. "The migration of people between the two countries provides another demonstration of it."

"More people have been coming from the United States to take up permanent residence in Canada in the last two years than have been crossing from the Dominion to that country," the statement declares. "In the last two years the surplus of arrivals over departures for permanent residence, most of them apparently intending to go upon the land, has been 41,986 persons."

The outward movement of Canadians in the calendar year 1931 to take up permanent residence in the United States was only 9,462, whereas, in 1930 it was 41,339.

Immigration from the United States to Canada was 15,195 in 1931 and 25,632 in 1930. The return of Canadians from the neighboring country was 20,632 in 1931 and 31,698 in 1930. The total inward movement was 35,847 in 1931 and 56,250 in 1930.

CHEST OF BRIAND LIKE CARUSO'S
Paris, March 10.—Doctors to-day said Aristide Briand, famed for his oratorical powers and the sonorous quality of his voice, had a chest and throat development which made them think of the late Enrico Caruso. If he had not been a statesman, he might have been a great singer, they thought.

THOUSANDS AT BRIAND BIER

Body Lies in State in Room of Foreign Office in Paris

Associated Press
Paris, March 10.—The body of Aristide Briand was taken to the Quai d'Orsay this morning without ceremony but the spontaneous expression of grief which came from many Parisians had reached the sidewalks with heads uncovered.

Premier Tardieu and other members of the government attended the removal. The body was placed in the back room at the Quai d'Orsay, where it will remain until the funeral, Saturday.

As the body was borne slowly to the salon in the Foreign Office where M. Briand signed the Briand-Kellogg pact to outlaw war, there were impressive evidences of his popularity with the people.

THOUSANDS FROM THOUSANDS
Thousands of persons from all parts of France, including peasants and mothers and children who suffered from the war, continued to-day to stream into Paris to pay homage to the Apostle of Peace.

Some members of the Chamber of Deputies began a movement to-day to have the body buried in the Pantheon beside the tombs of such notables as Victor Hugo, Voltaire and Jean Jacques Rousseau.

Messages of condolence from France and all parts of the world continued to arrive in large volume.

Newspapers have received appeals from many others urging French women to join in Saturday's funeral procession as a mark of homage to the Apostle of Peace and "as a manifestation of France's will to outlaw war forever."

Briand died in sadness," said Le Temps to-day, "almost in exile, but death brought him victory. His spirit has gone afar, but Briandism has become almost a world religion."

COUNTERFEITING CHARGE HEARD

New Westminster, March 10.—Charged with making counterfeit coins and with having such coins in his possession, Folke Mordenmark, twenty-two, appeared in the city police court here yesterday and was remanded until next Monday.

The police reported that in a statement made to them and signed by Nordmark, he had said: "On Saturday, March 5, I made eight nickels of babbitt, also three pieces of fifty cents. I made them of a sand mould. I played eight of the nickels at Canadian Legion."

Following the arrest of Nordmark Tuesday afternoon on Columbia Street by Inspector Peter Bruce and Constable H. W. Mason, the officers searched Nordmark's home and they stated they seized a counterfeiting plant.

The alleged counterfeiting outfit was a crude one. It comprised moulders and various tin cans used to melt babbitt metal, wax, small wooden frames and boxes as well as pieces of melted babbitt. The outfit was found in officers' stated, in a room adjoining Nordmark's bedroom.

Fifty-cent pieces and nickels alleged to have been made by Nordmark were taken by the police. The larger pieces were of Queen Victoria type and all were crudely-made.

Nordmark, who was born in Sweden and came to Canada in July, 1929, is a moulder by trade and has lived here six months.

Canada-France Trade Discussion

Ottawa, March 10.—Negotiations in respect to a new trade treaty between Canada and France were the subject of questions in the Commons yesterday afternoon. Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, asked if negotiations were proceeding.

"I ask this question," he added, "because I believe dispatches have come from France which would indicate the French government was contemplating banning fresh fruits from Canada and putting a prohibitive duty of $1 a bushel on imports of grain."

"No such information has reached the government, nor have we received any communications since the last dispatch was sent indicating a willingness to resume discussions looking to an amended treaty," replied Premier Bennett.

A dispatch from Paris yesterday said: "Imports of live plants and fresh fruits from Canada, Australia, New Zealand, China, Japan and some other countries were forbidden to-day by a decree issued by the Ministry of Agriculture."

"The action was taken to stop further damage by a parasite which had been introduced into France in cases of fruit, mostly, according to the ministry, from the United States."

Camden, N.J., March 10.—Two of four men who were burned in a gas explosion which killed their fourteen comrades were in a critical condition in a hospital here to-day.

The burns of one, Spirio Cecich, were complicated when the ambulance taking him to hospital figured in a collision. The other man seriously injured is Harry Reed.

All the victims lived in Camden, and all but six were neighborhood employees, who had thought to pick up a much-needed day's pay. They were cleaning a purifying box at the public service electric and gas plant, in which the explosion occurred.

OFF THE MARK

"Instead of the captious criticism in which they (the opposition) have been indulging, they should come forward and help us during these trying days. They should stand shoulder to shoulder with us in an endeavor to help us solve the problem instead of doing everything they can to block us."—Dr. R.J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, speaking in the House of Commons yesterday on the unemployment question.

HON. DR. MANION'S OBSERVATIONS

He was occasioned by the debate on the resolution to prolong the life of the government's Unemployment Relief Act of last session—the "blank cheque" legislation—from March 1 to May 1. Mr. Mackenzie King has promised the Prime Minister that he and his party will facilitate the passage of any relief bill presented by the government, irrespective of the amount of money stipulated, but he objects to Parliament being asked to delegate its powers through a "blank cheque." If the government has a relief plan in mind, let it present it to Parliament and he, Mr. King, will expedite its adoption.

This is the "captious criticism" to which Dr. Manion referred when he said the opposition "should stand shoulder to shoulder with us in an endeavor to help solve the problem." His attitude will be rather puzzling to many people who wonder why Mr. Mackenzie King's proposal for a national commission on this all-important national problem has been consistently rejected. The only response Mr. King has received so far is the resolution to give the "blank cheque" legislation new life for two more months. What on earth can the opposition leader do to assist the government if it persistently refuses the best advice he can give it? Does Dr. Manion suggest the Prime Minister is ready to admit the job is too big for him and his government to handle? There has been no sign of this in any of the utterances of Mr. Bennett.

What government spokesmen do not seem to realize is that although this is the third session of the present Parliament, the country still awaits a government proposal of a constructive nature for dealing with unemployment, notwithstanding the fact that there are at least three times as many Canadians idle now as there were when Mr. Bennett promised he would end unemployment "or perish in the attempt."

ON WRITING A BOOK

THE YOUNG MAN WHO SETS OUT TO write a book usually fails entirely to realize that he is entering one of the most sharply competitive fields there is.

Offhand, it seems as if the man with a good yarn in his system ought not to have much trouble getting it printed. Lots of books get published every year, and some of them are, to put it mildly, middling poor. It should be fairly simple to put one over if it is any good at all. But the reality is more discouraging.

A typical example is the case of E. P. Dutton and Co., a representative publishing house.

This spring Dutton will publish forty-two books. These were chosen from more than 10,000 manuscripts submitted. Of the 10,000, approximately 1,500 were held worthy of serious consideration, not only by the editorial department but by the sales, advertising, publicity and trade promotion departments.

"It is generally estimated," says John Macrae, Jr., vice president of the firm, "that most large publishing houses receive about ten times as many manuscripts as they can give serious consideration to. The others are obviously so poor that they have to be refused without this careful consideration, in order not to clog up the editorial offices and because of the expense involved—the actual reading of a manuscript costs about $10."

Nor is that the worst of it. Of the forty-two books this firm will publish this spring only ten are first books by new authors. The other thirty-two are all by writers who are well known to the public and to the publishing trade.

What, then, is the aspiring young author up against when he blithely wraps up that distillation of dreams and desires which constitutes his manuscript and consigns it to the mails? He has just about one chance in a thousand.

DE VALERA IN THE SADDLE

AFTER OCCUPYING THE POSITION OF

President since the first Parliament was set up, Mr. William T. Cosgrave made way yesterday for Mr. Eamonn de Valera. The new President commands a straight Republican following in the Dail of seventy-two members, with seven Laborites rated as supporters. Against this combination Mr. Cosgrave heads a contingent of fifty-six, with thirteen Independents and four Farmers considered to be in sympathy with his policies. In the ballot which officially changed the country's leadership, Mr. de Valera obtained eighty-one and Mr. Cosgrave sixty-eight votes. This slight difference in the line-up, however, is not important, since the formality was bound to turn in the Republican leader's favor.

Although Mr. de Valera never has made any bones about his dislike for Great Britain and is still wedded to the idea that Ireland ought to be a united and independent nation, a term in control of affairs at Dublin very probably will mellow him as office has mellowed other firebrands in various countries. It can be taken for granted that he will hesitate to stir the political pot to the point of boiling over in view of the progress the country has made under peaceful conditions in the last few years. Like the rest of the world, the Irish Free State has its unemployment and other economic problems, and can not afford to invite more trouble. On one matter, however, the Republican leader has made up his mind: he proposes to remove the oath of allegiance from the constitution. He declared immediately after the election that such a move would be one of the first acts of a government under his charge. In his opinion lasting peace can not be secured in Ireland as long as this provision remains law. In an interview with a representative of the Southern newspapers last week he explained his position on this subject as follows:

One section felt that they can not be representatives of the people unless by covering their consciences and that they will not do so. I propose to move this difficulty. The oath, after all, is purely an internal matter in my view. Can not you imagine the whole British Commonwealth of Nations without the oath and considering it as having nothing to do with the removal of the oath Canada and Irishmen in Canada would be the oaths Canada and Irishmen. When the treaty with Britain was being signed I put forward a form of association with Britain which would have made possible all trade and other arrangements as are made at the present time and yet in which a united Ireland would retain relations of mutual advantages with the rest of the Commonwealth and decided on matters of common interest. It was the formula of free association of Ireland as a republic with other states of the British Commonwealth. I propose reciprocal citizenship instead of having a King at all. There will be no final peace between Britain and Ireland so long as there is any attempt by Britain to dominate the situation here.

The oath of allegiance, of course, always has been Mr. de Valera's pet grouch. He is now in a position to remove the offending obstacle, irrespective of whether as many citizens of the Irish Free State are worrying about it as he thinks there are. But if he imagines his action in this regard will excite many people in Great Britain he is probably due for disillusionment. A few will fulminate; but most of the people have too many troubles of their own to worry about the details of Mr. de Valera's political faith as it may concern his country's relations with Britain.

The new President, incidentally, will have important problems on his own hands that will probably have to be given right of way. The dominating fact is that Great Britain is the Irish Free State's best customer; without that market the Free State would starve.

THE POULTRY FARMER'S DAY

ALTHOUGH PARLIAMENT IS NOT the proper court to determine freight rates, it ought not to be too much to expect that Monday's debate on the high domestic freight rates on grain between prairie points and this coast will persuade the Board of Railway Commissioners to re-examine the case for reduction, if only to save the business of dairymen and poultrymen for the railways. The notable feature of the discussion was the unanimity of view expressed by members of all parties who participated in the discussion.

This is not a new story, of course, but the anomalies still exist to irritate the home producer. Emphasis once again has been laid on the fact that domestic grain can be exported to Shanghai, Hongkong, Liverpool or Copenhagen at less cost than it can be moved across the Rockies to this coast for domestic use. As a matter of fact, the poultrymen of British Columbia actually find it cheaper to import wheat from Australia and corn from South Africa than to bring similar products from points on the Canadian prairies.

Dr. Manion, seemingly in sympathy with the resolution demanding lower domestic rates, felt bound to present the case for the railways, as Minister in charge of that department of the public service. Reduced to a few words, he told the House that the railways could not afford to cut the charges, that, if anything, they should be permitted to increase the export rate. Mr. Reid of New Westminster replied with an intimation that the poultry and dairy industry in British Columbia had reached such a point that, if reduced railway rates were not granted, there would soon be no dairymen or poultry farmers to give business to the railways. The resolution was "talked out," although Dr. Manion, conceding the importance of the subject, said the appeal from the judgment of the Railway Commission—which saw no case to support a reduction—would be dealt with in due course.

As Mr. Ian Mackenzie of Vancouver suggested, a government in office at Ottawa with a "Canada First" policy should at least feel sympathetic toward a move that would place domestic consumers in as advantageous a position as those in foreign countries. And the railways' retort that they can not afford to cut the domestic rate because they would lose money is far from sound economically, in view of the fact that the more the poultry industry in this province dwindles the less traffic the railways will carry.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE HIGH LINE

A Truthful Story in Truth

After the war we took the high line; we paid everybody and nobody paid us. We agreed to pay the Americans in full with compound interest, and we forgave the French and Italians two-thirds or three-fourths of their debts, from which we shall never get a penny. In the first year of the war, when the issue was doubtful, the Americans nearly threw us on our backs by refusing to sell us food and munitions unless we paid for them in gold or their own securities, which luckily we were able to do.

FOREIGN FACTORIES FOR LANCASHIRE

The Manchester Guardian

The foreign manufacturers who have taken factory sites in this country are not saying much about their immediate intentions. They are here to combat the effects of the emergency tariffs, but they are finding that they have to meet, too, an organized advertising campaign of the British interests with whom they are competing and the opposition of other foreign representatives here.

The German manufacturer of fancy leather goods who is among the first of the invaders, has, I learn, taken over an existing factory building in Oldham and has already placed orders for the conversion of the premises. Other firms, however, have acquired vacant sites with the intention of building anew. The Liverpool organization has captured for that city the orders for factories for Dutch and German manufacturers of batteries and other electrical equipment. This may help the inception of the project, advanced by the organization two years ago of a "factory city" on the immediate outskirts of Liverpool with a railroad and road transport system connecting the industrial colony with all the main transport lines.

A THOUGHT

Honor thy father and mother; which is the first commandment with promise.—Ephesians vi 2.
Honor is the moral conscience of the great.—Sir W. Dawson.

Across The Bay

The House hangers for real nourishment—and waxes very cranky as its appetite grows—Mr. Jones descends from his peak—and we debate the budget in its absence.

By H. B. W.

THIS HOUSE has existed too long on the sweets of opening formalities, on the sugar frosting of inconsequence and delay. It is tired of all these sickly pre-budgetary confessions. It is hungry for the meat of this session. It wants to get its teeth into some real nourishment. Well, it tried hard to satisfy its appetite on Wednesday, but it was still hungry when it quit, after two hours' rather fruitless yearning.

WHAT INTERESTS THIS HOUSE—all most all that interests it—is the budget. Everything else is by the way. The budget comes down every body's style is cramped. Why, so far, no one has really opened up at all. There was no debate on the Throne Speech to provide an opportunity for opening up, and there has been no budget debate so far. No wonder, then, that the House shows periodical symptoms not merely of opening, but of blowing up altogether.

NO WONDER, either, that as we reached the middle of another week with almost no business done, Mr. Pattullo, growing redder in the face as he grew more indignant in his soul, almost precipitated a budget debate in advance of the budget. He could not wait any longer to tell the truth about the government's finances, nor could the government wait any longer to make the old reliable retort that the present problem is largely traceable to the late government. Before we realized what was happening, we were spending the afternoon on a discussion of finances when we were supposed to be on the Motor Act. It was probably quite out of order, but as both sides delighted at this opportunity to air grievances too long stifled within their bosoms, Mr. Speaker wisely let them go as far as they liked.

MR. MANSON started the afternoon and showed clearly the beneficial effects of a full day during which the Opposition had rested and said no word. The Motor Act was up, but it was finance which bothered Mr. Manson, a common complaint these days. For the first time that awful word, "taxation," which has been the sole topic of conversation in the smoke-filled lobbies, forced its way in to the atmosphere of the House. The Motor Act gave Mr. Manson an opportunity to introduce it, for, as Mr. Manson said, it, the new driver's license of $1 a year was merely a new form of taxation. Added to the increased gasoline tax, he believed it would reduce the operation of automobiles and, in the end, defeat the government's crafty effort by decreasing its revenues.

THIS WAS bad enough, taxation was bad enough, but Mr. Manson had discovered something worse. It was that the government simply wouldn't take his advice on anything. He had tried to help the government, but all in vain. His labor had been ignored, his good advice had been resented, and now look at the result. Well, it must, and must go its own way, it must, and probably would, and there was nothing anyone could do to prevent it. So Mr. Manson sat down in a recumbent position which an unwary government might imagine to be slumber.

MR. PATTULLO, too, was tired of waiting for the budget. He couldn't leave taxation out of the Motor Act either, but then he said that the motorists of British Columbia had been promised a reduction in licenses with the raising of the gasoline tax to five cents, he ran headlong into Mr. McKenzie. Mr. McKenzie denied that any such promise had been given and asked Mr. Pattullo to produce any evidence of it. Whereupon he dug up his famous scrap book, with which the government would assuredly collapse, and plunged into a private search of its contents. As he placed markers in it at many points we presumed that he would later extract ammunition with which to explode the Opposition utterly.

EVEN MR. JONES could not resist the temptation to debate the budget before it was introduced, even before it was born into the Conservative caucus. Mr. Jones was so eager, indeed, that he addressed Mr. Manson as his Right Honorable Friend from Omineca—an honor which Mr. Manson was quick to assure him was just a little premature. "I'm not even an honorable now," he remarked with an air which you might interpret as regret or anticipation.

MR. JONES, correcting a mistake before it was doubtless due to the absent-mindedness of budget time, gently reproved Mr. Manson in that pleasant kindly fashion of his, a fashion as kindly and as pleasant as the sting of a wasp. Mr. Jones dearly loved a little sting, and probably one of the great regrets of his present career apart from the office itself, is that it compels him by custom to give up his favorite indoor sport, for a finance minister is supposed to dwell apart, silent upon a financial peak in Darien. This is very irksome to Mr. Jones, whose most anxious memories are of the brilliant, unbroken things, and across the aisle to a former Minister of Lands when the Speaker wasn't looking.

SO MR. JONES, coming down from his peak, said that it was a mighty good thing the government hadn't followed the advice of Mr. Manson or even that they were. And as for the former Minister of Lands, his government had introduced 100 new forms of taxation. This left the unpleasant suggestion that the present government

KIRK'S Wellington COAL

"Does Last Longer" G 3241

thus had a large leeway yet. Finally Mr. Jones made the stinging deduction that things are bad now largely as a result of Mr. Pattullo's government, but he left the proof of this theory to the budget. Never fear that it will not be elaborated there.

AFTER THAT Mr. Hinchliffe, who was leading the House, moved that we go on with the Forest Act, and Mr. Pattullo objected that we were jumping all over the order paper, instead of following any fixed course. Mr. Hinchliffe went on as if he hadn't heard any objection and Mr. Pattullo loudly voted "no" all by himself. He soon had another chance to deal with Mr. Jones. He said that the reason the public wasn't clamoring against the new Forest Act was that it had been "too stunned" by the general incompetence of the government. The public was so stunned that it was ready to "let her go," but Mr. Pattullo was not in despair. He had enough faith in British Columbia to believe that, after the present temporary set-back of a profligate government, it would emerge stronger than ever. Anyway, Mr. Pattullo expected another "fraudulent" budget in the meantime and nothing could be done about it.

MR. MANSON had revived sufficiently by this time to accuse Mr. Jones of being "obsessed with the idea of balancing his budget," an obsession which seldom troubles governments before. But when Mr. Manson learned that the last deficit had been $4,000,000, Mr. Jones exclaimed "No" several times very volubly. Mr. Manson said "Yes" just as often, and Chairman Twigg said he couldn't see that it was better to do with the Forest Act. And in the end we adjourned, feeling a little better, but not much, for having got some of the financial bile out of our systems.

NEXT LOCAL OPERA LISTED FOR FALL

At a special meeting of the Victoria Operatic Society held in the Little Theatre Association's rooms yesterday evening, it was decided by vote that there would be no further opera presentations this year because of the lack of funds. Harry J. Davis, president of the society, was in the chair. Titus Swan, honorary treasurer, gave the reasons for the committee's decision to hold no further opera this spring. It is now the intention of the society to commence the new season early in September and three productions are planned. Mr. Swan reported on the financial outcome of "The Bohemian Girl" held at the Royal Victoria Theatre two weeks ago. The decision was most satisfactory and the society is now in a stable condition, he said.

There was much discussion before the vote was taken regarding the practicability of presenting another opera this season. The result of the ballot was thirty-eight members against and thirty-four for another production this year. The annual meeting will be held in May.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES, THURSDAY, MARCH 10, 1907 (From The Times Files)

The government has taken prompt steps to carry into effect the legislation forshadowed in a speech from the Throne, having for its object the abatement of taxation made possible through the surplus of $300,000, which the Minister of Finance expects to report this year. This legislation is contained in two or three bills which were submitted by message yesterday, and which come up for the second reading on Monday.

It has been definitely decided that General William Booth will not include Victoria in his itinerary. He will visit both Vancouver and Seattle and meet the heads of the Salvation Army from all along the Pacific Coast.

A very welcome visitor to Victoria today is Roselle Knott, that charming and winsome Canadian actress. Miss Knott and her company are in town on the noon boat from Seattle, and will appear this evening at the Victoria Theatre in one of the most popular English plays written by the famous J. M. Barrie.

The marble quarries at Nooks Sound are to be opened at once by the Hootka Marble Quarries Co. Ltd. The initial shipment will be made to the United States. Men with the necessary winches and derricks to open up the quarries will leave next week.

Local Newsboys Are Entertained

Newsboys of the city, fifty strong, enjoyed a splendid programme at the Y.M.C.A. under the auspices of the boys' work committee of the Kiwanis Club and members of the association staff and leader corps on Tuesday evening. Archie McKinnon, physical director; Walter S. Maguire, general secretary; and Vivian Shoemaker, boys' work secretary, assisted by four leaders, took charge of the games and gym competitions as well as the swim, which brought that phase of the programme to a close.

The event was the first of a series planned under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club. All newsboys of the city may take advantage of the weekly treats by registering at the Y.M.C.A.

BUDGET DUE NEXT WEEK

Higher Gas and Income Tax and Grant Reductions Expected

Attorney-General Moved For Three Sittings Daily

Presentation of the budget early next week followed by three sittings a day are forecast to speed up the business of the B.C. Legislature, but doubts exist in the minds of many members on the possibility of finishing by Easter, as it was once reported might be the case.

Attorney-General Pooley will move to-morrow that there be three sittings daily from 10.30 a.m. to 12.30 a.m., from 2.30 p.m. until 6 p.m., and from 8 p.m. until adjournment. While the motion provides for the sittings it does not necessarily follow that it will be acted upon at once.

After daily sittings, including another yesterday evening, it is claimed the budget is now ready for presentation, and will be brought down early next week.

General revision upward of the income tax, an increase of two cents a gallon on gasoline, and material readjustment of provincial municipal grants are unofficially expected to be major items in the government's plan, when these are disclosed. Some additional taxation is also expected on other items, none of which it is said will bear too heavily on any one group of people.

It is reported the total bill of expenses for which action will be taken this year will be under $24,000,000, which would compare with between $28,000,000 and $30,000,000 for last year.

PRIVATE BILLS CONSIDERED

Victoria Lumber Company Seeks Charter Changes

Amendments to the Victoria Lumber Company charter to cover the expansion of its activities since it was started are sought in a private bill before the private bills committee of the Legislature.

H. G. Lawson appeared with J. A. Humbird, the managing director of the company, before the committee. It was explained that the company had commenced its operation in a small way in 1889. It had developed since then and, while now it was operating some 600 men employed, it was capable of employing 1,000 men if conditions were normal. Logging railways of considerable mileage had been constructed and it had made use of the alps and sawdust in the generating of electric current, which was used in lighting, heating and was being sold to some extent to the Nanaimo Electric Company.

The bill introduced proposed to validate some of the contracts that had been entered into and was therefore to be retroactive in some respects. The right to carry on the electric operations in Chemainus and within a radius of four miles of that centre was also asked for and granted.

A. D. King, representing the B.C. Electric Company, was present at the sitting and informed the committee his company had no objection to raise to this being accorded.

With the incorporation of the few changes suggested by the committee, the bill will be ready for report to the Legislature at an early date.

Leave has been granted to have the Bishop of Vancouver Island Incorporated into the House. The advertisement in connection with the bill had not yet been completed within the exact rules of the House.

The bill is one which is intended to bring about uniformity in connection with the title of the Roman Catholic bishop of this diocese. He is known as the Bishop of Vancouver Island under the act of incorporation, and is also within the church designated the Bishop of Victoria. The object is to bring about uniformity in the title in all cases being the Bishop of Victoria. Some other slight changes will be made in the act.

WILL DISCUSS MAY DAY PLANS

Revival of May 24 Celebrations Is Purpose of Meeting To-morrow Night

In an effort to revive the May 24 celebration, a public meeting has been called by Alderman W. D. Todd in the council chamber at the City Hall to-morrow evening at 8.15 o'clock. The movement has been launched because it is felt the May Day spirit in Victoria has waned during the last few years.

To discuss ways and means of bringing about a revival, members of service clubs, athletic associations and lodges are asked to attend the meeting. Suggestions of any nature will be welcome.

The attention of the meeting will be mainly concentrated on staging a parade, folk dance, regatta, fireworks display and Queen of the May contest. It is pointed out by the sponsors of the revival plans that the May Day celebrations have been and still should be a drawing card for tourists as well as citizens of Victoria.

Improvements To School Grounds

Expenditure of approximately $2,750 on improvements to building and grounds of Victoria schools was authorized by the Board of Trustees yesterday evening.

Some of the work was necessitated by heavy rains recently, which left the grounds of some schools in a "deplorable" condition, according to Trustee W. C. Morphy, K.C. All the work is of an urgent nature.

The major item of expenditure is $1,800 for a new lavatory system and building at Spring Ridge school. Other schools to receive improvements are Burnside school, surface drains and improvements to playgrounds, $260; Margaret Jenkins school, drain on playground, grading and seeding, $248; Girls' Central school, renewing lavatories, $280; Beacon Hill school, removal of trees, $23; High school, supplying of black loam for football grounds, $120; and grading part of ground on east front, $98. Tenders will be called for the work at Spring Ridge school and then considered.

DUNCAN

Duncan, March 10.—The Cowichan Women's Institute met on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. Rey, Duncan, and arranged to send an Easter hamper to the children at the Solarium. Donations of groceries, sweets, toys and jams may be left at the Cowichan Health Centre before March 23. The institute will hold a sale in April and members attending the next meeting will bring articles of sewing or knitting to be made for this sale. Members will also bring recipes for exchange. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. F. G. Christmas on Tuesday, April 12.

Other People's Views

AN EXEMPLAR FOR CHINA

To the Editor:—Every time I read about China's uncivilized conditions and how unfavorably she stands comparison with civilized Japan and the civilized nations of the western world, my mind reverts to that flower of western civilization, the World War, in which 65,000,000 soldiers tried to kill one another, and succeeded in destroying nearly nine millions and wounding more than twenty millions, at a financial cost of more than two hundred billions, at the same time ruining the Russian, German and Austro-Hungarian empires. To-day the world is in a desperate economic condition with many nations facing revolution on account of that war which did not originate in uncivilized China! If that is the kind of civilization the western world wants China to adopt, may heaven protect her.

GARDEN BOOKS ARE LISTED AT PUBLIC LIBRARY

Many Useful Tips Contained in Books For Those Who Are Planning
Their Gardens

At a time when many people are thinking about their gardens and how they can make them beautiful and an asset to the city, a list of books dealing with gardening in its many aspects is appropriate. A list has been prepared by the staff of the Victoria Public Library, and gardeners will find many useful tips in a few of the books listed.

The books are as follows:

"Lawn Making," by Leonard Barron, enables anyone to establish a respectable and adequate greenward in any sort of soil where grass can be made to grow. Nine years ago this little book on lawns was submitted to the public and it has seemingly filled a niche in gardening handbooks.

"Design of Small Properties," by M. E. Bottomley, is a practical handbook, giving advice in the design of city and country places in garden architecture, and the planning and maintenance of trees, shrubs and flowers. The aim of this book is to encourage and direct the creative impulse of the person who is interested in his own out-of-doors.

"Making Fences, Walls and Hedges," by William Harold Butterfield, is a compact and practical little book. Fences, walls and hedges are considered from the point of view of design, construction and cost, and in the case of hedges, of the selection and care of varieties.

"Old Time Gardens," by Mrs. Alice Morse, begins with colonial days and the early pilgrim gardens; the author follows the garden through the New England villages and the garden towns of the east, pointing out interesting evidences of old English, Dutch and European garden styles. She then gives pictures of some of the gardens of the American poets and finally leaves one steeped in delightful bits of flower and garden lore gathered about our early gardens.

SUN DIALS AND ROSES

"Sun Dials and Roses of Yesterday," by Mrs. Alice Morse, gives interesting information about the history, construction, manufacture and setting of sun dials, with many illustrations, and, lest the book be bare like a sun dial standing alone in a garden, the latter part is devoted to roses and quaint rose recipes.

"Complete Home Landscape," by Jennings and Johnson is the most usable and practical work for the one lot gardener which is available. The author's aim for the little book is that it may answer explicitly all ordinary questions that may arise in connection with the creation and maintenance of the average simple home place.

"Design in the Little Garden," by Fletcher Steele, deals with the principles and practice of gardening as an art, and has little to do with planting problems. Mr. Steele is interested in landscape design in limited space, gardens planned for privacy and comfort, small enclosed lawns or green gardens, rock, wild and wall gardens, garden walks and furniture, arbors and fences. Three chapters are given to a discussion of three different plans for a garden on an average suburban lot.

"Cultivated Evergreens," by L. H. Bailey, is a handbook of the most important evergreens planted for ornament in Canada and the United States. The various sections of the book, on the place of evergreens in the landscape, the cultivation and propagation of conifers, their adaptation to different climates and their diseases, the classification of conifers, the cultivation of broadleaved evergreens and a check list of woody evergreens, are contributed by experts on the subject under the general editorship of L. H. Bailey.

"Cultivation of Shrubs," by Katherine Cloud, is not for those who buy one shrub at a time, but whoever wants a reference book, with general advice on planting and propagating, pruning and spraying, forcing and fertilizing, will find Miss Cloud an invaluable guide. The author is a consulting horticulturist.

"Japanese Flower Arrangement Applied to Western Needs," by Mary Averill, deals first with the history and theory of the subject, then gives explicit directions for some of the simpler forms of arrangement, in each case explaining the underlying reasons. The text is supplied with diagrammatic illustrations.

USEFUL GARDENERS

"Manual of Gardening," by H. Bailey, will be found extremely useful to gardeners, even to those with very little experience, for the author, specialist as he is, finds no difficulty in writing upon garden subjects in a manner easily understandable to amateurs.

"House Plants and How to Grow Them," by F. T. Barnes, discusses fully those plants which are sure to succeed. Somewhat minute directions have been given for the preparation of soil for seed sowing and for other operations in connection with each plant and particularly as regards temperature.

"Little Garden for Little Money," by Mrs. Kate L. Brewster, discusses the practical, elementary details of the small garden, giving suggestions for various landscape effects and much information about the varieties and the care of plants.

"Culture of Perennials," by Dorothy Cloud, deals with the practical steps necessary for a successful perennial garden, with the propagation and care of plants, the making and planting of rock gardens and the use of hot beds and cold frames. Complete cultural directions are given for all the perennials mentioned, which are mostly restricted to the hardy plants.

"Garden Guide," by Alpheus T. De

YOUNG WIFE, AFRAID TO EAT, LIVES ON SOUP

"Afraid of stomach gas, I lived on soup for 8 months. Then I tried Adlerika and now I eat most anything without any gas," Mrs. A. Connor. Adlerika relieves stomach gas in TEN minutes! Acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing old poisonous waste you never knew was there. Don't fool with medicine which cleans only PART of bowels, but let Adlerika give stomach and bowels a REAL cleaning and set rid of all gas, at leading drug-gists. (Adv.)

51 Years Old Claims He Feels Like Boy Again

Prominent Business Man Explains
His Recovery of Good Health and Seeming Defeat of Age

From a nervous, weakened, "all in" condition, to a feeling of youthful health and activity in three weeks' time, that is the remarkable experience of this well-known business man who says, "The new Erbac discovery has certainly been worth a million to me, and I cannot express too much thankfulness for it. At fifty-one, I seemed pretty much 'all in' and had felt badly for several years—now, thanks to Erbac, I feel like a boy again!"

The treatment mentioned above has won the highest praise from those who have used it to ward off a feeling of weakness, lack of ambition and vigor, loss of nerve force and signs of approaching age. Put up in tablets, plainly wrapped and convenient for easy home use—Double Strength Erbac comes in sealed packets containing a twenty-day supply.

For the convenience and benefit of men and women in this locality, who have never had a chance to try Double Strength Erbac—local druggists have been furnished with the regular twenty-day treatments to supply to all who wish to try it on a risk basis. Results, in all instances, must be completely satisfactory or purchase price will be refunded to the user.

la Mare, tells how to raise vegetables, fruits and flowers; how to plan, plant and maintain the home grounds, the suburban garden, the city plot, how to care for roses and other favorite flowers, hardy plants, trees and shrubs, lawns, porch plants, and window boxes; with chapters on pruning, propagation, fertilizers, diseases, insect pests, weeds, tools, winter storage, canning, birds, garden furniture, and one thousand and one practical pointers.

"American Flower Garden," by Mrs. Nellie Doubleday, is a book on wild gardens. First, she touches on the abstract idea and tells what an ideal wild garden might be and what such gardens have to offer. Then she comes to the past; then she describes some of the most useful materials for a wild garden, interspersing the story with the practical knowledge necessary to the making of one. After each chapter follow the planting tables, by Leonard Barron.

"Wild Flower Garden," by Herbert Durand, is an interesting and fascinating story. The wild flower garden attractively described and illustrated in these pages was originally a bare and rocky tract of about one acre, measuring roughly 60x100. The author-gardener tells how by successful transplanting from woodlands near and far he transformed this barren plot to the beauty spot of the illustrations.

"Wild Flowers and Ferns," by Herbert Durand, is based on the author's own study and experience. This manual contains information on the cultivation of our native wild flowers, bushes and ferns. There are extensive lists of plants that may be transplanted successfully, while the color plates and photographs are of value in showing the plants in their natural environment.

"Practical Flower Garden," by Mrs. Ely, gives the results of the author's experience in caring for grass and evergreens, arranging flowers to secure successive effects, raising plants and trees from seed and use of fertilizers.

"Gardening With Brains," by Henry Theophilus Finch, tells how to bring choice flowers and juicy vegetables to the table. There are plenty of garden books giving all the facts for reference, this is one of the few works prepared for consecutive reading.

"Garden Bluebook," by L. B. Holland, contains descriptions and photographic illustrations of 169 flowering plants arranged alphabetically, a brief introduction which considers the plan of the garden in relation to mass and height.

"Book of Annuals," by A. C. Hottes, is an attractive and reliable little guide through the season of annual bloom.

"Little Book of Climbing Plants," by A. C. Hottes, is a very useful and informative book. It includes a discussion of climbing roses, trailers, ground covers, arbors and trellises.

"Color Schemes for the Garden," by G. Jekyll, is a real masterpiece in garden color. She provides the structure of gardening with a more exquisite and carefully considered garnishment than has ever been given to garden lovers before by a man or woman.

"Little Garden," by Mrs. Louisa King, crowds in a small place a mass of practical suggestions that prove to the owner of a small place that there are for him great possibilities in the way of garden enterprise. Most books discourage the average householder because they plan on extensive scale. The true principles of landscape art and garden care are here, and presented in alluring form.

"Madame's House Plants," by Frederick E. Palmer, is a compact definite little book with many illustrations. "Garden Making," by Elsa Rehmann, seeks to give gardening its place in the realm of art and to discuss garden design in its simplest form. It dwells upon plant material, upon perennials and roses, bulbs and annuals, shrubs and trees, not so much for their individual beauty as for the way in which they embody the garden's design and interpret its character.

"Book of Bulbs," by P. F. Rockwell, illustrates as well as describes the charming effects to be obtained by use of bulbs in the garden of any size. Instructions are given for the planting and care of bulbs of all sorts, for indoor as well as outdoor blooming.

"Gardening Under Glass," by P. F. Rockwell, is a practical book which passes on to amateur greenhouse secrets. Mr. Rockwell begins at the beginning and discusses soils and fertilizers and tools and tells what plants to combine at given temperatures and describes the cultivation of special crops.

Batchelor Stores Have Remarkable Record of Growth

Expansion Has Taken Place in Thirteen Years: Nine Stores in Chain on Vancouver Island; Service and Quality Is Motto of Success

Steady expansion, made possible through a motto of service and quality, has marked the development of Batchelor Stores on Vancouver Island. Thirteen years ago there was only one Batchelor Store, a modest, but well-maintained business in James Bay.

To-day there are nine stores in the chain, located in the chief centres of Victoria, Saanich and Nanaimo.

L. Batchelor, founder of this business, is a native of London, England, who came to Victoria in 1912. After serving an apprenticeship on business conditions in Canada for seven years, he started under his own name in the James Bay district. For three years he devoted himself to building up a good clientele before considering expansion.

BRENTWOOD STORE
In 1923 the possibilities of a branch in Saanich became apparent, and negotiations were started for the purchase of the West Saanich Mercantile Co., with a store at Brentwood Bay. The owner, W. O. Wallace, was bought out, and Mr. Batchelor appointed H. A. Blakey as manager. Business in this location increased rapidly, and soon larger quarters were imperative. The old store was removed and a new and finer building erected. This included a new feature in the installation of an up-to-date refrigeration plant to care for the meat department.

A year later the Parkdale Grocery, located in Saanich, on the Douglas Street extension, was purchased. E. Rand being selected as manager. Here again Mr. Batchelor's unerring choice of a good locality was apparent, for the business thrived from the day of taking over.

IN HEART OF CITY

Not satisfied with more rural business, Mr. Batchelor now looked around for stores in the heart of the city. Two were purchased, the choice falling on the well-known cash-and-carry stores on Douglas Street. This gave the Batchelor Stores branches in Saanich, James Bay and in the city itself, but still further expansion was to follow.

One of the most important steps in the history of the Batchelor group was the purchase by Mr. Batchelor of the controlling interest in H. O. Kirkham & Co. Ltd. from H. O. Kirkham, including an interest in the People's Cash Grocery on Yates Street. This took place in 1928.

Shortly after this step, Mr. Batchelor became associated with Ross Main in the control of the Hillside Community Store, A. Lumley being appointed as manager.

The latest expansion, and one that breaks entirely new ground, is the acquisition of a store in Nanaimo, under the name of the P. & P. Stores. G. Rogers is in the capacity of manager of this thriving branch.

The success of the Batchelor Stores has been based upon service given to the customer before all other considerations. Personal attention to the individual needs of the customer has been a factor which has built up a reputation second to none.

Kirkham Business Established Here Twenty Years Ago

Leading Grocery of City Has Long Record of Efficient
Service; Batchelors
Secured Control in 1928;
All Shareholders Are Local Citizens and Plant Modern in Every Respect

The firm operating under the name of H. O. Kirkham Ltd., is perhaps one of the best known in the city, having served the public through many years and the vicissitudes of changing managements. The business was founded by H. O. Kirkham in 1910 at a location further up Fort Street than the present site. At first the business was under his control entirely, but a few months after inauguration two new partners were included, namely, A. Brockhurst and the late T. R. Mullin. It was not until five years later, in 1915, that the expansion and growth of the store warranted removal to more spacious premises, and the site occupied to-day was selected.

BRANCHES OPENED

Two years later the firm entered upon the establishment of branches which were to make their name a household word throughout many districts. In 1917 The People's Cash Grocery, on Yates Street, was opened, and an example of the progressive methods employed is found in the fact that here was the first store to be operated on the "groceteria" principle in British Columbia. The popularity of the idea became prevalent and the management began to plan still further expansion.

The following year a branch in Duncan was opened and flourished there for some years. It is still carried on under the same name, although the founders have relinquished control. Other branches were established in Vancouver and the business grew until some twenty to twenty-five stores were operating under the name of H. O. Kirkham Co., Ltd.

CHANGES IN CONTROL

This management continued until 1921, when a revolutionary change was made. Mr. Brockhurst and Mr. Mullin retired and four names were added. F. E. Anderson, well known in Victoria after twenty-five years of residence, and with the firm since 1914, became a partner as accountant and secretary. J. M. Murray, whose experience in the grocery business had been obtained in Eastern Canada, Yukon and on this coast, and who had been in the employ of the company since 1917, entered the firm with the official post of manager. T. Milburn, who joined the staff in the same year as Mr. Murray, became a partner in charge of the meat and fish department. T. Lea, with the firm since 1920, assumed control of the fruit division.

With the change of management the outside branches were disposed of with the exception of The People's Cash Grocery. This latter branch was taken over by A. W. Lucking in 1928. Mr. Lucking, who had owned his own business both on the prairies and in Duncan previously, had been associated with the firm at intermittent periods, but four years ago he became a partner, appointed to the management of The People's Cash Grocery.

STORE RENOVATED

In 1928 business conditions demanded a complete renovation of the Fort Street store, and not an item was ignored, that would bring the firm a name for higher service. Outstanding among the improvements was the installation of modern refrigeration, including the glass show cases which occupy the centre of the floor to-day, all equipped with electrical refrigeration and designed to care for the meat and fish departments. Storage facilities were also greatly added to. The display of groceries also received special attention, while the lighting, ventilation, (Continued on Page 7)

tion and general finish of the store was thoroughly modernized. In 1908 L. Batchelor acquired the controlling interest in the company and Mr. Kirkham ceased to be a member of the firm. The five partners previously mentioned continued as before, in the posts which they held to-day. This makes in all a management of six active shareholders, all residents of Victoria, utilizing local capital. To-day the firm of H. O. Kirkham Ltd. commands an extensive clientele throughout the whole of Greater Victoria. A fair percentage of the business is through mail orders, but the bulk is delivered direct by a fleet of five trucks, operating on an efficient system. More than thirty employees are kept in steady work. Consistent buying with an eye to quality as well as value has brought the stock carried up to the highest standard possible to find anywhere. Still further improvements of the services are even now under consideration.

One feature of the personnel of H. O. Kirkham Ltd. is the co-operation and harmony existing between heads of departments and the employees. Numerous social events are planned and carried out annually, the yearly picnic being a gala holiday looked forward to by all.

The shareholders are all Victoria citizens, most of them having resided here more than twenty years. They own their own homes and contribute in other ways to the revenue of the city. The capital is strictly local and profits from the business are spent here. Shareholders are all active in the business and meet their customers in the stores and endeavor to give them real personal service. Of the thirty employees on the staff, the majority are married with families. The different departments handle groceries, fruits, vegetables, fresh meats, provisions, fresh and smoked fish, biscuits and confectionery.

CHANGES URGED IN DENMARK

Copenhagen, Denmark, March 10.—Drastic changes in the organization and the economic life of Denmark were suggested to-day by Premier Theodore Stauning during an address before a group of industrial and commercial leaders.

He advocated abolition of the upper house of parliament and the substitution of an advisory body to deal with economic questions. The time was approaching, he said, when the state must control, or direct those who do control, production and commerce so that such activities might not come into conflict with the interests of the country.

He said foreign trade also should be under a central organization.

BRITISH SPIRIT IS UNCHANGED

Most Unaccountable People in the World, Says Sir John Martin Harvey

Endanger Dole By Changing Government and Queue Up to Pay Taxes

"The most unaccountable people in the world," declared Sir John Martin Harvey in discussing the British people. The noted British actor was enjoying a respite from rehearsal and when questioned about conditions in Great Britain he relaxed in a library chair at the Empress Hotel and talked of the people he knows so well.

"They put in a Labor government to give it a trial and when things were not going right they kicked the administration out of office and returned a National government, many of the voters knowing full well that they would be deprived of the dole by doing so," he said.

"When they realize that the government needs money they queue up to pay income tax actually in advance. A most extraordinary people."

"Staggering under frightful burdens since the World War the British people have carried on without grumbling," he said. "The spirit of the people has not changed one iota, but there is renewed evidence of the old strong John Bullism."

Stephen Leacock said to me the other day that the British people had gone back a hundred years. The same stiff-backed spirit is there that existed in the Napoleonic Wars. Two of the most remarkable things that have happened in recent British history, to my mind, are the unanimity of all classes of the British people in joining up to fight in the World War for liberty and justice and the overwhelming vote which returned the National government to power. Surely they are a remarkable and wonderful people."

Rev. Hugh McMillan Addresses Joint Meeting at Victoria College

Rev. Hugh McMillan, B.A. Ed., was the guest speaker at a joint meeting of the International Relations Society and the Student Christian Movement of Victoria College held at the Craigdarroch institution yesterday afternoon. Rev. McMillan took for his subject "The Oriental Student and His Problems." The speaker has just returned from Formosa where he has been conducting a school for Oriental students.

The Oriental student is an animate question mark, he stated, and wants to know the "why and wherefore" of all the Occidental manners and customs. Motion pictures were taken literally in many parts of the Orient, the speaker stated. The meeting concluded with a question box. John McTavish, president of the S.C.M., was in the chair.

Rev. Mr. McMillan addressed the S.C.M. during the noon hour on "Is Kagawa the Modern Paul?" At both meetings the speaker was introduced to the student audiences by Rev. Bruce Gray.

Manchester, Eng., March 10.—Cotton mill workers have reached a temporary agreement with their employers in the "more looms per weaver" controversy which has agitated the industry for months.

FOREST FIRE VIEWS CLASH

Conservative Member Fears Loughheed Bill Suspending Fund

Special Warrant Privilege Will Be Abused, Says A. M. Manson

Suspension for one year of the forest fire fighting fund came under criticism in the Legislature yesterday from two angles from members on both sides of the House. If forests were to be left at the mercy of the flames the Minister of Lands was subject to censure for the inevitable destruction which would result, members said. If not it meant the budget was to be falsified. Fire fighting costs were to be left out so the Minister of Finance could balance his budget, but would be secured through special warrants. Special warrants were not provided for expenses such as this which could be foreseen, Liberal members said, and scored the government for the leasing of $6,400,000 special warrants during the first nine months of the fiscal year.

DANGER TO SETTLERS

Dr. C. M. Kingston, Conservative, Grand Forks, criticized the suspension of the fund both on the point of the prospective timber loss and the danger to settlers. Leading the criticism, T. D. Pattullo, Leader of the Opposition, recalled that some of the greatest criticism levelled against the government was on the grounds of alleged lack of forest protection and conservation. The province should be a unit in the protection of timber he thought and questioned whether the minister intended to leave the forests at the mercy of flames or abuse the special warrant privilege method of obtaining money to enable this profligate and extravagant government to balance its budget. If timber men of the province were to rely on their own protection they would have to let the forests burn. They could not afford to do otherwise.

Thomas King, Liberal, Columbia, feared the forest destruction in his district with firebrands away and no one with the experience necessary to operate the pumps.

W. R. Rutledge, Conservative, Burnaby, thought it was time an effort was made to cut down on the terrible expense when so little fire protection was given.

"Fire protection is getting to be more of a racket than anything else," he commented, "particularly in the last few years when many fires have been started for the purpose of creating work."

Dr. J. J. Gillis, Liberal, Yale, warned against the danger of not having experienced men available when a fire started.

TO HELP FINANCE MINISTER

A. M. Manson, K.C., said to suspend the fund would be a foolish reduction in expenditures. It was no use degrading themselves. The Minister of Lands did not intend to stand by and see the forests burn. He had intimated the fire staff would be kept intact. He would have to recourse to special warrants to get the money. He detected the finger of the Minister of Finance in his efforts to balance the budget through the elimination of an expenditure which would appear in the special warrants.

Thomas Uphill, Labor, Fernie, described it as a cent wise and dollar foolish policy.

Dr. Kingston did not believe the minister intended the forests to go to the dogs, entirely. It was not good business to drop insurance. He realized an expensive system had been built up but feared for the safety of forests in unorganized districts if the fund were dropped. He also cited the case of the settler whose life would be endangered with fire around him. The province had an obligation to protect those settlers. The interior did not want to see the countryside laid waste by fire. He suggested road crews or the unemployed could be used in fire-fighting.

CONSCRIPTION

Col. Nelson Spencer insisted that the timber resources of the province were of such value that when fire menaced every man, woman and child in the area should be conscripted at once.

"That is already the law," commented Mr. Pattullo.

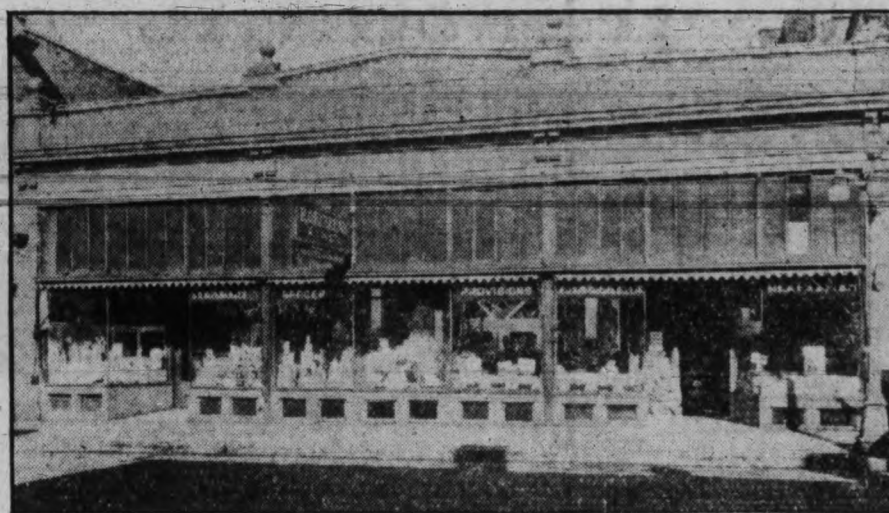

"Then it should be enforced," replied Col. Spencer. "When that is done we shall have less carelessness or incendiarism."

"If the government intends to impress fire fighters without pay that is a matter of government policy which should be declared," said Mr. Pattullo.

"But government policy must have regard to some protective force and there can be no such force unless the Legislature provides the funds."

Hon. N. S. Loughheed said that no timber owner had protested the suspension of the fund, which operated very unequally. In the southern interior $3,000,000 had been spent in the last five years, a cost of 27 cents an acre of which the interior men had not paid even their assessed share of 4 cents.

"The more we advertise we are going to spend fighting fires the more we have to spend," said the minister.

"Twenty years ago we spent only $114,000. This year it would cost us $1,000,000 if we went ahead with the Fires did little damage to standing timber, he said, but the essential problem was to protect the new growth, in which connection he announced he had 1,250,000 young trees ready for planting. Mr. Pattullo said replanting was a mere bagatelle compared with the natural new growth as a factor in forest conservation.

GETS RID OF COLDS IN 3 DAYS INSTEAD OF 9!

Listerine gargle
checks the progress of colds... often prevents them entirely

Once again the power of full strength Listerine to ward off infection, by means of its swift, safe, germicidal action, is revealed by a series of unusual tests.

Bear the results of these tests in mind. They point to better health, greater vitality, and freedom from pain and discomfort.

Between November 15, 1930 and February 1, 1931, 102 persons in normal health were kept under medical observation. Thirty-four of them, designated as "controls," did not gargle Listerine. Thirty-four gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day. The remaining thirty-four gargled five times daily. Now see what happened:

One-half as many colds for garglers

The "controls" (those who did not use Listerine) contracted twice as many colds as those who gargled Listerine twice daily. Moreover, their colds lasted three times as long and were four times as severe.

Now let us compare the "controls" with those who gargled Listerine five times a day:

The "controls" had three times as many colds, which were four times as severe and lasted four times as long.

Results every time

Similar tests conducted over periods ranging from four weeks to four and one-half months show equally convincing results.

In a four-week test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted nine times as many colds as those who did gargle. In addition, the colds lasted eleven times as long. In a four and one-half month test those who did not gargle Listerine contracted three times as many colds as those who did gargle. And the colds lasted five times as long.

Kills germs, yet safe

What is the secret of Listerine's success used this way? The answer is its ability to kill germs in the fastest time without harm to the delicate tissues of the mouth. Used as a gargle, full strength Listerine reduces bacteria on the surfaces of the mouth, 98%. At the end of two hours, a reduction of between 75% and 80% is still evident. Ask for Listerine and see that you get it. Its results are certain and its action is safe. Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, Toronto, Ontario.

How frequently we hear people complain of "indigestion." And how seldom there is actually anything wrong with the digestive organs!

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali to neutralize the acids. But don't use any crude helps. Use what most doctors would advise: use what your own doctor prescribes in his daily practice for just that condition.

The very best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. You will find nothing else so quick in effect, so harmless, so efficient. One teaspoon spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Results are immediate, with no harmful after-effects to follow your relief.

This pleasant way to alkalize your system is so much better—so much quicker—than attempting to accomplish the same thing by a diet! But you cannot do this with any form of magnesia. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the formula; it is the one preparation that gives you magnesia in perfect suspension. It is alkaline, its action is thorough, and there is nothing more soothing to an ailing stomach or more helpful to sluggish bowels. Druggists throughout the Dominion have Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in 50c bottles.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

Children sometimes develop troubles and dislikes regarding food as they reach the age of eight or nine. There are several reasons for this, and one in particular can be laid to their elders' door. Discussions about food by older persons may do much to influence young tastes. Consequently opinions of grown-ups should be carefully guarded.

At this age, too, mothers often relax the constant supervision of their children's diet and the juniors are allowed to eat about what they please with the result of a poorly balanced dietary.

It is not at all difficult to plan menus for children from eight to ten. They enjoy good food and may be allowed a large variety. Most of the regulation adult meals that are well balanced and sensible are suitable for children.

One of the best food habits to establish early, if the meals are well balanced and well cooked, is the habit of eating some of every food served. Even if the amount is very small, the rule should be firmly enforced for this purpose. A balanced diet and a developed broader taste in later years. It's almost impossible for the home-maker to plan interesting and economical menus when there are certain foods her family refuses to eat. For example, when summer vegetables, either canned or shipped, must be used all winter in place of the winter vegetables, there's a sameness about the winter and summer meals that discourages the appetite. As for the seasonal foods are always the cheapest.

VARIETY IS POSSIBLE

The rule of a quart of milk a day continues to hold, but some of it may be used in cream soups, creamed vegetables, desserts and beverages. Tea and coffee should not be permitted until the "years of discretion." Meat, fish, eggs, raw and cooked vegetables, raw and cooked fruits, cereals and simple desserts can be served in great variety.

While it is of utmost importance that vitamins and minerals be supplied in abundance, the caloric value of foods must not be overlooked. The amount of food a child needs at the age has been estimated as between 1,700 and 2,000 calories a day. The protein calories should be between 10 and 15 per cent of the whole amount. A working knowledge of the caloric value of the more common foods is valuable.

The ordinary serving of a number of foods yields 100 calories. This makes it easy to calculate the approximate number of calories in the whole day's diet. When the diet is well balanced the distribution of the calories is sure to be suitable. Meat, fish or eggs once a day, a quart of milk, plenty of vegetables and fruits, cereals and bread and butter with simple cookies and puddings—such foods insure a wholesome, nourishing diet.

The following menu for a day is worked out to show the number of calories in each dish.

Breakfast—One large orange (100), ¼ cup cooked cereal (100), 4 tablespoons thin cream (100), 1 soft cooked egg (70), 1 slice toast (80), 2 teaspoons butter (70), 1 glass milk (about 30), ¼ cup (125). Total calories, 615.

Lunch—One-half cup baked macaroni with tomato sauce (100), ¼ head lettuce (12), 2 teaspoons French dressing (60), 1 whole slice whole wheat bread (100), 1 teaspoon butter (25), 2-3 cup apple sauce (100), 1 glass milk (125). Total calories, 538.

Dinner—One well round steak ground (100), 1 baked sweet potato (150), ¼ cup creamed peas and carrots (60), 1-3 cup fruit salad with mayonnaise (130), 3 tablespoons brown Betty with 1 tablespoon whipped cream (200), 1 slice bread and butter (135), 1 glass milk (125). Total calories, 900. Total calories for the day, 2,043.

To-morrow's Menu
Breakfast—Grape fruit sections, cereal cooked with dates, cream, crisp broiled bacon, bread crumb pan cakes, milk, coffee.
Lunch—Dried beef with rice, prune and peanut butter sandwiches, orange jelly with whipped cream, vanilla cookies, milk, tea.
Dinner—Baked ham, creamed spinach, stewed potatoes a la Southern, apple-celery and raisin salad, custard pie with apricot meringue, milk, coffee.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

WISE MOTHER REFUSES TO PLAY MARTIN TO CHILD

Any good habit may be carried to such an extreme that it becomes a bad habit. The virtue of punctuality becomes almost a vice when the person is made the slave of the clock instead of making the clock his slave. A respect for authority is a virtue until it is carried to the extreme of absolute, unquestioning obedience. Then it becomes a menace to both the dominator and the dominated.

Keeping baby quite and his schedule regular under the placid influence of his own home, and not subjecting him to the erratic care of anyone who happens to grab him, is a good habit. But if the mother carries this to the point of saying that no one except herself can care for her baby and that she develops a situation even more obnoxious than the one she is avoiding.

THE INEVITABLE

Under this careful and monopolistic attention, baby very shortly arrives at the stage where he can not be happy for a moment without his mother beside him. For her to leave the room is a minor tragedy; he drops whatever he is doing and cries pitifully until she returns. If she puts on her hat to leave the house, he is inconsolable, and anyone who is called upon to care for him has her hands full.

All of this is subtly flattering to the mother. She talks about baby's actions with the air of a martyr, but she has a secret pride in the fact that the child is not happy when she is out of sight. But it is not a matter for pride if the child can't be happy playing alone or in the care of some other responsible adult. A mother quite justifiably wants to be near and dear to her child, but this need not involve making her a slave to him, or the baby a slave to her presence.

Sometimes this comes about before the mother realizes what is happening. She is alone with the child all day and he is company to her. She devotes her time to him every waking moment and carries him from room to room so that he may be near her. She is not aware of the bond she is fashioning until she finds him weeping tragically when she leaves the room, or screaming demanding for her return. Then she is frightened and realizes how firmly the child is bound to her presence.

INDEPENDENCE

Teaching the child to be independent is a matter which will help the mother avoid such situations, even if she is the only one to care for the baby. It is a self-addressed, stamped envelope for this letter to Mrs. Eldred in care of "Your Baby and Mine" Department of this newspaper.

It is always advisable to stick to the child's routine and refuse to violate it for selfish considerations. It is always wise to protect a child from the excitement of too many persons and from nerve-racking changes of environment. But it is not desirable to carry this excellent policy to such extremes that no one but the mother can minister to the child, and he is made utterly dependent upon her.

The St. Paul's A.Y.P.A. held their regular meeting yesterday evening with the president, Harvey Dobson, in the chair.

Business included the formation of an A.Y.P.A. Tennis Club, a committee headed by Tom Tams being appointed to carry out the arrangements. The programme for the remainder of the year, drawn up by the executive, was adopted. On recommendation from the executive, Ernie Mills was appointed chief sidesman at St. Paul's. Following a discussion on the provincial conference to be held in New Westminster in April, Walter Putt was elected delegate.

Following the business the members were entertained by Pete Dobson of the entertainment committee, with a series of mock initiation games. The next meeting will be on March 16 at 8 p.m., under the direction of Roy Jacklin. There will be a lantern lecture on "The West Coast of England" by Mr. Scobble.

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
AUTHOR OF "DASH DANCING"

© 1930 by NEA SERVICE INC.

The voice at the other end of the wire was excited and high pitched. Shields, standing near Mitchell, could hear every word.

"This is Lisi Duncan," the voice said. "Mr. Mitchell, I wanted to tell you that Celia's gone."

"What do you mean?"

"I mean she's gone!" the voice insisted hotly. "She's been staying here with me but this afternoon she went for a drive with Tod Jordan and they haven't come back. It was nearly four hours ago and I've been so worried. I'm afraid something has happened!"

CHAPTER LIX

In a few frenzied moments John Mitchell had the full story. Celia had been at Lisi Duncan's home for three days. The girl had arrived there with Jordan. Celia had seemed worried and unhappy but she had demanded—at the price of friendship—that no one should know her whereabouts. Lisi and her father were the only members of the household who were at home. On this particular evening Mr. Duncan was somewhere in town.

"I saw Celia and Tod get into his car," Lisi went on excitedly. "I was in the living-room right behind them and when I heard the car I looked out the window. I heard Jordan say 'We'll be back in no time.' Then I called but they didn't hear me because the car started. It was four o'clock then and now it's after eight! I'm afraid there's been an accident, Mr. Mitchell. What can we do?"

"You stay where you are," Mitchell ordered, "and if either of them comes telephone me immediately."

"But don't you think we should do something—"

"I do, indeed, and I'm going to do it! You'll hear from them later. Good-by!"

Barney had heard the entire conversation. As Mitchell put down the telephone the young man caught his arm.

"The boat?" he cried. "You think she's with him?"

John Mitchell did not answer. He was ordering the car, rummaging for his hat, shouting orders at the butler. Edward hurried forward with an evening paper to tell them the name of the ship sailing for Havana at 10 p.m. and the number of the pier.

Shields had posted himself at the door.

"The car's here," he cried, raising his voice in keeping with the general hubbub. He opened the door and ran down the steps, Mitchell following.

"Drive to pier—"

"And hurry!"

The big motor car pulled away from the curb. Almost immediately it seemed to be in the midst of traffic, detained by a red street signal. The father cursed. His feverish eyes darted to left and right.

They were off again. The driver chose a less congested street. They were making better time now. Barney Shields consulted his watch and saw it was after 8.30.

"I can't believe she'd do it!" Mitchell moaned. "I can't believe she'd do it!"

Shields said nothing. His eyes were glued on the street ahead. The thirty minutes' trip seemed endless. He did not hear what John Mitchell was saying. If Celia had gone aboard that boat with Tod Jordan it could mean only one thing. It meant that Celia loved Jordan. She must love him enough to marry him.

There was a lump in Barney's throat and his lips were dry. A constant chorus dinned over and over in his mind: "If she's on the boat it means she loves Jordan."

The motor car swung in a wide circle and backed against a narrow sidewalk. They had reached the pier. The car had scarcely halted before Mitchell's hand was on the door. He stepped out and Shields followed.

They passed through the doorway marked "Passengers—Entrance" and hurried up a flight of stairs. The long pier was a confused mass of lights.

OUT OUR WAY

feel the search was hopeless when his companion stopped short.

"Look!" John Mitchell demanded. Not a dozen yards away a man and girl were leaning against the railing. The man's back was toward them but the girl had turned and her profile was revealed white and clear cut against the black sky. It was Celia.

For an instant Celia gazed up at the man beside her and her profile was revealed across the water.

Barney Shields closed his eyes, trying to shut out the sight. Celia! There was no doubt about it. She was there and the man beside her was Tod Jordan. Shields had recognized him instantly.

"Wait!" Mitchell said. "I'll get her!"

Barney was concealed in the shadows. He watched the father stride the short distance and touch Celia's arm. A startled exclamation fell from the girl's lips as she faced about. Jordan straightened, but before he could speak Mitchell had begun:

"Celia, what's the meaning of this?" the father demanded. "Have you lost your senses? You're coming home with me—at once! This is outrageous—"

"Oh, no, she's not going with you!" Jordan cut in. His scowl and tone were both angry. "She's going to stay right here!"

"Celia—I tell you come at once!" Mitchell spoke as though he had not heard the young man. He had taken Celia's arm and now he tugged at it, urging her from the railing.

"I'm not going with you, father," she said slowly.

Mitchell seemed speechless. Then he burst forth violently:

"But I tell you you will! Good God, Celia—do you know what you're saying? Do you know what this means? You'll go with me now and no more nonsense about it. Do as I tell you!"

The girl drew back, leaning both arms against the deck railing. She seemed completely sure of herself. Barney Shields, watching from the shadows, caught himself marveling at the fine white line of her throat. Her lips looked very red and her eyes had never been more lustrous.

"I am not going," Celia repeated. "and there is nothing that you can do about it. I have my own life to live and I intend to live it my own way. I don't want to quarrel with you, father, but don't you see it was a mistake to expect me to fit into the life that suits you? I'm sorry, but I couldn't be done that's all. I understand me. We're going to be happy together. Won't you give us your blessing?"

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggly's Pink Nose

By HOWARD G. GARIS

"Are you going anywhere special to-day, Uncle Wiggly?" asked the rabbit gentleman's wife one morning. She had just helped Nurse Jane Punsy Wuzzy get the forty-seven sixteen bunny boys and girls ready for school and now Mrs. Longears was knitting something with pink yarn on clicking needles.

"Oh, no place special," answered the rabbit gentleman. "Just to look for an adventure, you know. But I can do any little errand for you if you would like to have me."

"Thank you, I would," said Mrs. Longears. "Will you be going near the pen house of Mr. Twistytail?"

"Oh, yes, I can easily hop past Twisty's house," said Mr. Longears. "Do you want me to stop and see if my old pig friend is any fatter?"

"Oh, no," Mrs. Longears answered. "I just want you to leave this little pink cap I have just knitted. I will have it finished in a few minutes," and she held it up for Uncle Wiggly to see. "What's the matter?" asked his wife. "That pink cap will never fit Mr. Twistytail," said Uncle Wiggly. "It is much too small. Besides, pink isn't his color."

"No, and this isn't his cap!" said the rabbit lady, with a laugh. "Whose is it, then?" Uncle Wiggly wanted to know.

"It's for a new baby pig that has come to Mr. and Mrs. Twistytail," said Mrs. Longears. "We're going to have this pink cap to keep its ears warm. Will you leave it as you hop past the pig house while looking for an adventure?"

"Surely I will," promised Uncle Wiggly. "It's a very pretty pink cap," he said, as he looked at it.

"Just the color of your nose," Nurse Jane remarked as she passed through the room on her way to make the beds. "So it is," agreed Uncle Wiggly, as his wife knit the last stitch and handed the cap to him. "If I lose my pink nose in the snow I can put this cap on, I suppose."

"Oh, but—don't lose your nose," begged his wife. "I wouldn't like you without your pink, twinkling nose."

"I won't lose it if I can help it," Mr. Longears promised.

"And don't lose the baby pig's pink cap, either," said Mrs. Longears. "No, I'll be careful," replied the rabbit gentleman. Then, putting the pink cap in his fur coat pocket and taking his pink, twinkling nose with him, Uncle Wiggly hopped out of his bunding over the snow-covered fields and through the woods, looking for an adventure.

All of a sudden, as Uncle Wiggly was hopping past a big bank of snow the pink cap bounced out of his pocket and fell into the white drift. Knowing nothing about this, however, Uncle Wiggly hopped on toward the pig house.

"I hope the new little baby pig will like its pink cap," thought the rabbit. On and on he hopped, leaving the pink cap sticking out of the snow far behind him. Then, all of a sudden, along came the Fox and the Bob Cat. The two Bad Chaps were looking for someone to nibble.

"Look," cried the Bob Cat, as they passed the snow bank.

"What is it?" asked the Fox.

"There's a pink cap sticking out of the snow."

"Let's get it," said the Fox.

"Yes, let's get it," said the Bob Cat.

atching out of that snow drift," meowed the Bob Cat. "He must be stuck there. Come on. We'll dig him out and nibble him. Hurry before he gets away!"

"Oh, what luck!" barked the Fox. "Yes, there's his pink nose," he said, "and where the pink nose is there the rabbit must be!"

The two Bad Chaps began to dig fast and furiously with their paws in the snow drift. They pawed the pink cap to one side but did not know what it was. Thinking it was the rabbit's nose the Bob Cat shouted:

"There goes his nose! We've pulled it off!"

"Never mind! Did down and get him!" howled the Fox.

Faster and faster the Bad Chaps dug. But of course when they had dug to the bottom of the pile of snow no Uncle Wiggly was there.

"Fooled again," snarled the Fox. "Yes," meowed the Bob Cat, and they slunk away, leaving the pink cap on the snow. He also saw where the Bad Chaps had dug a big hole. "But they didn't get me!" chuckled the rabbit. "Ha! Ha!" Then he took the cap to the baby pig who liked it very much and said "Good! Good!" So everything was all right.

And if you think Uncle Wiggly was pouring water down the back of the rocking chair to make it sneeze, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggly and the Moon Man.

Horoscope

FRIDAY, MARCH 11, 1932

Good and evil stars seem to appear in the horoscope for to-day, according to astrology, but benefic aspects dominate.

It is a day red as especially promising to women, who should use their brains and hands with special success in work while this planetary government continues.

Under this direction of the stars the planning of our wardrobe or one's social campaign should be most fortunate.

It is a lucky day for shopping and seems to promise for modists, milliners and importers plenty of profit.

While this configuration continues pursues all manner of open rivalry and cheque books are supposed to be in demand.

Prosperity is likely to appear near, and a general access of cheerfulness should be apparent.

The rule is good for musicians, who should find much of profit in the coming months, when brass bands may flourish more prominently than architects.

The direction of the stars favors athletic exhibitions and big fairs of every sort. The public is forewarned, apparently, to patronize amusements and to encourage recreation.

There is a good sign for lawyers and for heads of big business. The summer is to be a time of extraordinary interest. It is foretold.

Trade should be good and expensive. The summer will bring success to those who earn it, the seers declare.

A winning or wedding out of the intricate will be discussed in the afternoon and the various mercantile interests prepared for new enterprises, it is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a star of happiness in love as well as in business affairs.

Children born on this day probably will be serious and industrious, and the subjects of this sign choose professions that require energy.

Thomas Hastings, successful architect, was born on this day, 1868. Henry Bryan Hall, 1866, noted engraver, also celebrated it as a birthday.

Easter Dishes Of Grapefruit

Since white and yellow are colors associated with springtime and Easter, grapefruit dishes fit very well into the menu of this season. A grapefruit appetizer made of the halved fruit, garnished with a cherry or a mint sprig makes an attractive opening course for an Easter luncheon. A grapefruit cup may serve as first or last course for an Easter luncheon, while grapefruit salads and desserts appropriately appear on Easter dinner menus.

EASTER SALAD

Eggs must appear on the Easter menu in some form. Here is an attractive and unusual salad combination; grapefruit segments and deviled eggs. It's surprisingly good to eat as well as very decorative.

Three to 4 grapefruit, 6 eggs, boiled 20 minutes; mayonnaise, mustard, pepper and salt, 1 tablespoon sweet pickle, finely chopped; 1 tablespoon pimento, finely minced; lettuce, 6 stuffed olives.

How OVEN-BAKING makes beans lighter MORE APPETIZING

The dry, even heat of the Heinz ovens permits you to have beans with a flavour, a lightness, and with digestible qualities that all the boiling or steaming in the world could not equal.

Most tinned beans are steamed or boiled. Look on the label of the brand you use. Unless you find the word "Baked", those beans aren't baked.

In the Heinz ovens at Leamington, beans are so baked that all the flavour is retained and the delicious rich sauces that only Heinz can make permeate every bean, as butter permeates a well-baked, mealy potato. Taste once more the delicious savour of beans as Grandma used to bake them in the old wood stove.

You can get Heinz Oven-Baked Beans in four tempting styles. Two styles with Tomato sauce—with Pork and without. Then, there is Boston style—with Pork and a delicious sweet sauce. Lastly, Red Kidney Beans in a savoury sauce—ready to serve. They are all Oven-baked. Remember, only Baked Beans can be labelled "Baked."

Dorothy Dix

Can the Mother of an Adopted Baby Love It as Her Own?—Dorothy Dix Defines "Clinging Vine."

DEAR MISS DIX—I am a young woman who loves children and when I married I dreamed, of course, of having babies of my own. None, alas, came and my mother-hunger nearly drove me crazy. I became depressed and cried constantly. My husband advised me to adopt a child. I went to an institution dreaming of the beautiful, golden-haired blue-eyed cherub that I would select for my own, but a little four-year-old boy, actually ugly, clung to me and wistfully asked: "May I kiss you?" And he slipped a confiding little hand in my husband's and said: "I'd like to be your little boy." Well, we forgot all about the beautiful dream child and adopted this lonely little love-starved creature, and he is the joy of our lives. He is so loving, so proud of his new parents. A dozen times a day he asks if he will always be "our boy."

Curiously enough, with the mimicry of small children, he has acquired nearly all of the characteristics of his adopted daddy. When his father comes home from work they play football and baseball and I read to him and talk to him, and when he runs in from his play and throws his arms around me in a swift hug and kiss and says: "Mover, I love you." I own the world. People praise to us of the good we are doing and the usefulness we showed in adopting a child. They can't seem to realize that the benefit is to us, that we have gotten a new source of happiness and a new object in life. Nor do they realize that if we adopt a child you never think of it as adopted. He or she is YOURS.

Answer:—I have printed this letter in full because it answers better than I can the question that is put to me every day by some woman whose empty arms ache for a baby to cuddle and who wants to know whether it is wise to adopt a child or not. Here is the experience of a woman who has tried it and found nothing but happiness in it, and thousands of other foster-mothers who write to this column seem to have had the same experience.

That the women who adopt children are more crazy about them and appear to get more pleasure out of them than real mothers often do out of their children is easily explained by the fact that no woman would voluntarily burden herself with a child unless she had the maternal instinct highly developed. Many women are mothers only through the compulsion of nature. Other women have the mother heart as a gift from God. Many an old-maid aunt gives her brother's or sister's children the real mothering that their own mother never gives them.

Many people refrain from adopting children because they are afraid of how they will "turn out," or they fear they will be ungrateful. It is a natural apprehension, but every move we make in life is fraught with uncertainty, and heaven knows no parents know what sort of men and women their own children are going to develop into, nor are they sure of their affection and appreciation.

All about us we see the sons and daughters of our friends who are wild and wayward youth and maidens and anything but a credit to their parents, and every day we read in the papers about fathers and mothers who are asking the courts to force the children, for whom they toiled and sacrificed so much, to support them in their old age.

So it would seem that the adopted child is just about as good a gamble as one's own child, and certainly they can fill an empty void in many a lonely woman's life, and give her something to think about and something to do.

But one thing be sure to do. If you adopt a child, tell it that it is adopted just as soon as it can understand and before it can attach undue importance to the fact. It is inevitable that sooner or later the child will find out that it was adopted and when it discovers that it has been adopted, and that its parents it has been taught to believe its own are not its real father and mother, the knowledge tumbles its whole world about its ears. It shakes its faith in everything and gives it a shock from which it never recovers.

DOROTHY DIX.
DEAR MISS DIX—What is meant by the phrase "a clinging vine"? My fiancé tells me that I am that type of girl and that he wants a pal rather than a clinging vine. This is meant as constructive criticism and I am taking it as such, but I don't know how to correct my faults because I don't know just what a clinging vine is.

Answer:—What is generally meant when we describe a woman as "a clinging vine" is one who has not the strength to stand alone, but who clings to her tendrils around some one else and expects him to support her. Inferentially she is a parasite who lives on some one else's money or some one else's vitality or some one else's philosophy of life. The clinging vine woman is never able to earn her own living. She can never go off and establish her own place in life, but she has to hang on to some one else. She can never think of anything to do herself, but trails along with somebody else who is taking a trip or going to the theatre or going to church.

You see the clinging vine woman illustrated in the girl who stays at home and lets her poor old father work and support her, though she is far more able to labor than he is, and in the woman who, if her husband dies, is a burden on her children or her sisters and brothers because she hasn't the courage even to attempt to do anything. You see her in the many women who inflict themselves on their relatives because they haven't the nerve to set up a home for themselves or to go live in a boarding house or a hotel. And you see the clinging vine in the sheep women who follow every fad and fashion.

Probably your sweetheart feels that you have not enough independence and initiative and that you depend too much on him. When he says he desires a wife who will be a pal, he means one who will manage her end of the matrimonial partnership and make her own decisions without bothering him to know if she shall put blue paper or pink in her room, and whether she had better make a hash or a pie of the cold mutton.

A Fast Trip Across Asia

IV—WE ENTER INDIA
Some Afghans say they are descended from the lost tribes of Israel. This may, or may not be true, but it is certain that Afghans look a great deal like people of Jewish stock and must be related in one way or another to the folk of olden Palestine.

Inside of a Delhi Temple

Like the Turks and Persians, most Afghans are Mohammedans. They believe that Mohammed was a true prophet and that his teachings in the Koran should be followed.

After leaving the capital of Afghanistan, we fly above the Kabul river. We know that it flows toward the east and will join the Indus river.

We come over the great valley of the Indus river. The Afghan mountains are behind us, and we have entered India.

India, mother of men! You have fallen on days of hardship and trouble, but you have written much into the history of the human race.

We look at the natives, and we notice that their skins are brown—some of deep brown, others of very light brown. Should we say that they are members of a brown race? Not without words to explain.

India's people number nearly 325,000,000, and we are up about one-sixth of all those who live on earth. Study of their history shows that they are in large part of white stock; but they have mixed freely with brown folk and to a lesser degree with yellow folk.
Banty says that he is willing to pilot us anywhere in India, but I remind him that we are on a fast trip through Asia and cannot afford time for more than one stop—at Delhi—before we enter Burma.
Delhi is in the north-central part of India. It has taken the place of Calcutta as capital of the country. Around the city, on three sides, are walls which were set up in olden times.
One side of Delhi is bordered by a river, and beside that river are the remains of fine buildings which date back hundreds of years. Perhaps I should not say "remains," because the buildings are still in fairly good condition despite the passing of years. In the hallway of one of them is an inscription which means, "If there is a heaven on earth, it is in this building."
The Great Mogul, ruler of Hindustan, lived in Delhi two centuries ago. To-morrow—Flying Over Burma.

Brussels, Belgium, March 10.—King Albert has arranged to spend his Easter holiday in the eastern section of the Belgian Congo in Africa, especially at the Albert National Park.
It will be his first visit to Belgium's African domain. Rapid and easy means of transport will be used, including airplanes, and will enable him to complete the trip in four weeks, it was expected.

IRISH CONCERT WILL BE GIVEN

Interesting Programme Is Planned For Next Thursday
Evening at Royal Theatre

An Irish concert will be given at the Royal Victoria Theatre next Thursday evening when St. Patrick's Day will be recalled by song and dance. The concert is being arranged in aid of the new St. Louis College and is the second annual affair, last year's programme proving an outstanding success. Again some of the city's best-known musical talent will take part in the programme which is now being arranged by an energetic committee.

The boys' choir of St. Louis College, winners several times of the shield for its class at Victoria musical festivals, will be heard in selections, several of which will be typically Irish. Well-known vocalists who have consented to sing are Miss Josephine Charlebois, Thomas Kelway, Fred Wright, Miss Merle North and Llewellyn Jones.

In costumes suited to St. Patrick's Day a number of dancers will give their numbers. Little Miriam Schwabe, always a favorite, with Jack Child at the piano, will appear in a number of tap dances, attired in costume that will give a touch of Old Erin. Other dancers will be Eugene Doherty, Barbara Groves and Verna de Macedo.

A special feature of the programme will be the living pictures that are now being arranged by Mrs. W. Lloyd Morgan, assisted by the Sisters of St. Ann. A number of old-fashioned scenes are being planned and these will be presented in old-fashioned frames. The color scheme promises to be exceptionally good.

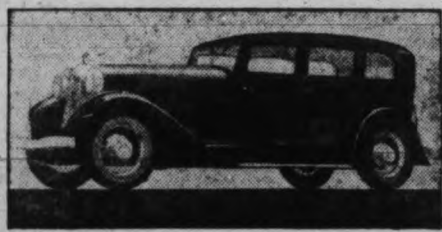

Frank J. Sehl is in charge of the programme. Tickets are now on sale at the Toggery Shop on Fort Street and from friends of St. Louis College.

BOOKS GIVEN TO COLLEGE

Citizens Aid in Building Up
Library at Educational Institution

The library of Victoria College has received 251 new books during the last two months by donation from citizens and students of the institution. Prof. P. H. Elliott, the principal, informed the School Board at its meeting yesterday evening.

Mrs. A. L. Dean, 1033 St. Patrick Street, Oak Bay, donated 193 volumes on physics, chemistry, mining and metallurgy, and P. E. Mason forty-two volumes of French literature. H. Toms and J. C. Nisbet, students of the college, have donated volumes entitled: "The Stars in Their Course," and "A Panorama of Nations." Walter Gage of the college staff, gave a set of fourteen volumes on mathematics, and F. H. A. Norton, 1311 Broad Street, copies of The Business Week, for use by the economic class.

The principal also reported that the loan of twenty-two fine pictures from Mrs. Every-Clayton had been made and a copy of "The Overlanders of Sixty-two," presented by John Hosie, provincial librarian.

CHARLES BLAND
TO STAND TRIAL

Articles Stolen From Store
Found in His Possession,
Police Allege

After preliminary hearing in the City Police Court yesterday Charles Bland was committed for trial on a charge of having possession of stolen goods.

The articles found in his possession, according to the evidence, were a number of packets of tobacco and a mandoline which were reported stolen from Sun and Company's store, 1527 Blanshard Street, last Thursday night.

Bland was arrested by Detective Pearson Woodburn on Bridge Street on Friday evening with a bundle of tobacco packets under his arm. A search of his house later revealed the mandoline, hidden under the bed, the detective testified.

Jim Mone, of Sun and Company, identified the mandoline as the one he had purchased a few weeks ago for $30. The tobacco, he said, was of the same kind taken from the store. A sticker on the mandoline had been placed there by the firm from which it was purchased.

Bland conducted his own defence, cross-examining each of the witnesses. He entered no evidence on his own behalf, however, reserving his defence for the trial.

PURCHASES SET
NEW RECORDS

Road Machinery Buying By
B.C. Government Nears
Million-a-year Mark

Purchases of road machinery by the Public Works Department rose during the last year and the preceding year to new record highs of $869,000 and $895,000, respectively, according to the returns tabled with the public accounts committee of the Legislature yesterday.

Included in this total were only purchases of machines costing $2,000 or more, all the purchases under the $2,000 mark being carried in the usual district and other appropriation votes. W. Wright, accountant and Chief Clerk Harrison explained to the committee. They testified that the volume of purchases since 1929 had increased so enormously that the former facilities of the department had been unable to handle all the expenditure and it was necessary to form the special equipment fund branch to handle the items over $2,000 each.

The table showed purchases of road machinery from 1918 to 1928 varied from $27,000 to a maximum of $137,000 a year. During the year 1929-30, however, the Department of Public Works stepped this rate of expenditure on purchases of new road machinery up to $736,186 out of the special equipment fund. In addition there was $158,000 more machinery paid for out of general revenue. The committee has summoned more witnesses, following testimony of the accountants that big purchases were made without calling for tenders or price.

How To Care For Baby's Teeth
Fruit Juices and Cod Liver Oil in Correct Amounts
Necessary for Proper Early Development
By DR. MORRIS FISHBURN
The baby that is nursed by its mother gets the best food a baby can get. If it is not nursed by the mother, it will have to have a diet arranged so as to include the necessary substances. The basis of all baby diets is milk, but milk is deficient in certain necessary substances, and these the doctor can provide for through modification of the diet. When the teeth come in at the front of the mouth between the fifth and eighth months, as a rule, if they happen to be a little early, or late, there is no cause for worry. The next teeth come in between the eighth and tenth months, and the others about the time of the first birthday. Until the first teeth appear, the mouth of the child does well if let as is. After the first teeth appear, the gums and teeth may be kept daily with a soft clean cloth dipped in water to which a little salt has been added. It is well to be exceedingly gentle. About the eighteenth month a soft tooth brush may be substituted for the soft cloth, and as soon as the child is old enough it should learn to brush its teeth for itself. If the child likes the taste of toothpaste it may have toothpaste. If it prefers the water with added salt, honey, etc., that is all right. Most physicians and dentists are convinced that a toothpaste is of service only in cleaning and polishing the teeth and has little, if any, special value for preventing infection or counteracting acid.

"THE BELLS" HERE FRIDAY
Martin Harvey Will Present
"The King's Messenger"
Last Time This Evening
Sir John Martin Harvey will be seen in "The Bells," the famous melodrama into which the late Sir Henry Irving put so much care and thought and of which he left such a splendid and lasting memory. Sir John will present "The Bells" to-morrow and Saturday evenings at the Royal Victoria Theatre. For many years Sir John has resisted the temptation to present this being sensitive to the fact that by doing so he would be inviting comparison between his interpretation and the Irving production, and he hesitated to appear in one of the roles which all who know and love the stage regard as one peculiarly Irving's own, because "The Bells" was adapted from the French novel by Erckmann and Chatriat, by Leopold Lewis especially for Sir Henry when he was still producing and managing and acting in elaborate productions at the Lyceum. Now Sir John has decided to present this fine melodrama to Canadian audiences to the great delight of his immense following in this country, and to a public most of whom only know Sir Henry through a splendid tradition of the stage. This evening at the Royal Martin Harvey and his company will be seen for the last time in "The King's Messenger" which has been delighting Victoria audiences all this week.

"Shanghai Express" To Open Saturday
Small towns in southern California frequently have sudden increases in population when a motion picture troupe unexpectedly invades the place for location work. This happened recently when San Bernardino was practically taken over by actors, extras and workers for the filming of Harry Hervey's new story of the Orient, "Shanghai Express," which is featured at the Dominion Theatre beginning Saturday. In producing "Shanghai Express" more than 1,000 people were transported to that town for filming scenes around the railroad station. These included hundreds of extras and workers besides the director, Josef von Sternberg, and the leading members of the cast which includes Marlene Dietrich, Olive Brook, Anna May Wong, Warner Oland and Eugene Pallette.

EMPIRE THEATRE
So swift is the dramatic action of "The Spider," Lois Moran, in the feminine lead, does not realize she is falling in love with Edmund Lowe until the baffling murder which actuates the plot is solved. This unique, swift-moving Fox mystery melodrama is now the featured screen attraction at the Empire theatre.

STARS RETURN IN NEW FILM
Capitol Theatre Starring William Powell and Evelyn Brent in "High Pressure"

Back in the days when the talking picture was a squawking baby—remembered vividly by Hollywood as the "dark ages"—William Powell and Evelyn Brent were co-featured in an early speake, "Interference." To-day they are reunited in a picture for the first time since that film. Powell, remembering the pleasant association, made early use of the privileges accompanying his new stardom at Warner Brothers, and asked for her as his leading lady in "High Pressure," now at the Capitol Theatre. "The talkies have changed some since those days of our first," haven't they?" But commented the first day around the spacious sound stage, agreed, "Rather!" "High Pressure" is based on a full-length novel. The sets not only include lavish office buildings and apartments, speakies and hotels, but mammoth out-of-doors shots, such as a required for a long sequence in which the hunt for Miss Brent—these do not stop the powerful ear of the mike now from recording each bit of dialogue. Besides Powell and Miss Brent, "High Pressure" features Evelyn Knapp, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Hall, Lillian Bond, George Sydney, Alison Skipworth, John Gray and Polly Walters.

Western Star Has Lead at Columbia
Buck Jones, popular western star, is the hero of the Columbia picture, "Ridin' For Justice," the current attraction at the Columbia Theatre. Mary Doran, who will be remembered for her splendid work in "Broadway Melody," "Our Blushing Brides" and "Remote Control," is Buck's new leading lady. Russell Simpson, seen in "Man Man" and "Bully the Kid," and Walter Miller, famous Pathe serial star, have the leading male roles in "Ridin' For Justice." Bob McKenzie, William Walling, Billy Engle and Hank Mann are others in the new Buck Jones thriller. "Ridin' For Justice" was directed by D. Ross Lederman.

"Daddy Long Legs" At Romano Theatre
Writing isn't all a flash of inspiration, according to Jean Webster, famous authoress of "Daddy Long Legs," now appearing in a Fox Film version. Co-starring Janet Gaynor and Warner Baxter, at the Romano Theatre. "I had the idea and the name 'Daddy Long Legs' in storage," she declares, "before I began to write the book—the tall young philanthropist, who sends an orphan girl through college." Miss Webster, a grandniece of Mark Twain, began to write while still a Vassar undergraduate. A volume of short stories, "When Pity Went to College," won her national prominence.

"Daddy Long Legs" At Romano Theatre
Although "Dance Team," at the Dominion Theatre, tells the story of two ball-room dancers, it deals more with their every day life off the dance floor than with their professional career and art. It depicts their struggles to attain success and then their battle to hold on to the elusive will-o'-wisp once they have achieved it. James Dunn and Sally Eilers are ad.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Water will be shut off in Victoria West and Esquimalt Municipality next Sunday from 5 a.m. until 6 p.m.

The Rotary Spokes Club will meet this evening at the home of C. H. French, 182 George Road. W. P. Pinfield will be the principal speaker.

Rev. Dr. E. A. P. Chadwick, Mrs. Chadwick, Dr. S. Boyle and Mrs. Boyle were guests of the Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel today.

The moving pictures of animal life in Wainwright Park and mountain climbing in the Rockies will be shown at Unity Centre to-morrow night, not to-night as previously announced.

Members of the Rotary Club to-day were reminded of the invitation extended the local club to send a delegate to the Pacific conference of Rotary Clubs in Honolulu during June.

The Canadian Pensioners will hold a special meeting on March 11 at 8 p.m. All members are requested to attend with their wives, as matters of importance to the association will be discussed.

Congratulations on the seventieth anniversary of his arrival in Victoria were extended to Albert Maynard by J. Percy Watson, president of the Rotary Club, at its luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

The Victoria and District Cornish Association will hold its regular meeting at 1232 Government at 8 o'clock next Saturday evening. Herbert J. White will give an illustrated lecture on his recent visit to Cornwall.

Prof. G. J. Todd, of the University of British Columbia, will deliver an address on "Pagan Ethics" before the University Extension Society at Victoria College this evening at 8:15 o'clock.

Norman Baker, civil service commissioner, will be advised by the Victoria School Board that it has no power to contribute any funds toward payment for an actuarial investigation of the provincial superannuation fund, it was decided yesterday evening.

There was a time when the people heard the church and believed all they heard. With a developing sense of questioning came the decision to sort out what they heard and select what they wished to believe as rational.

The factor most responsible for the present change of outlook was the theory of Charles Darwin. He had popularized sciences which had been studied by others before him. Dr. Boyle said, "Since then his theories had been extended."

It was necessary to be a student of science to attempt to explain these theories, the speaker noted.

A great deal of confusion of thought has resulted from the popularization of the Darwinian inferences," he continued.

In part the theory indicates inner power of development," Dr. Boyle said. To illustrate his point he traced the evolution of the hand from the paw.

SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST
The survival of the fittest was one of the doctrines of Darwin, the speaker continued, outlining various instances in which the fittest survived.

"We ought to realize that all law is divine," he added. "Some of the things which we sometimes think are not part of the divine power, but they are created by the divine power. They might be misused and abused, but they were never misused or abused," he declared.

He cited the case of Dean Inge and other leading scientific intelligences who found nothing incompatible between the scientific and religious.

Science, he said, is not a religion. It is a method of inquiry, a way of life, a way of thought, a way of action, a way of being.

After all, the heroic thing to do is face the problems of this ever-changing life and try to make it less imperfect," he concluded.

J. Percy Watson, president of the club, thanked the speaker for his scholarly address.

The flames were brought under control at 3:45 o'clock, after the roof and a portion of the building had been demolished.

CITY IN FINE ADVERTISEMENT
Victoria Secures Good Publicity in Saturday Evening Post Campaign

Efforts of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau in connection with its partnership in the Pictorial Sounders' advertising campaign in The Saturday Evening Post, have been crowned with success, it was revealed on publication of proofs of the full-page advertisement which will run in that publication on March 26.

Of the eight pictures in the Pacific Northwest in the ads, three are of Victoria and Island scenes. Two of them top the page. One depicts a panoramic view of the Inner Harbor with the Parliament Buildings in the background. Another shows a familiar fishing scene on Vancouver Island and the third the lake in the beautiful grounds of R. P. Butcher.

The city and island also secured prominence in the reading matter with the advertisement.

The entire venture has been completed with the minimum of cost to this city. It should be of unusual value in directing tourist travel to the Island this year, since all inquiries received from it will be forwarded to the local publicity bureau, which will follow up with literature on the resorts there.

EX-OFFICIAL SUES MINISTER
Action has been started in the Supreme Court by John Alexander, Anderson against Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe for a declaration that the plaintiff is in no wise responsible or liable for shortages of any kind, which may be shown in the accounts of the text-book branch of the Department of Education, of which he had been an official.

A writ issued by A. J. Patton, on behalf of Mr. Anderson, sets out that Mr. Hinchliffe caused the plaintiff to be dismissed, alleging him to be responsible for certain alleged shortages.

RELIGION ON FIRM BASIS

Science May Blast Theological Doctrines, But Basis Unchanged, Club Told

Rev. Dr. S. Boyle, Coburg, Traces Trend of Modern Thought on Religion

Science may have swept aside certain theological doctrines, but the basis of religion still stands firm, Rev. Dr. Stannage Boyle, Rotarian of Coburg, Ont., and former president of Kings College, Halifax, told members of the Rotary Club at their luncheon in the Empress Hotel to-day.

Leaders of scientific thought had found no difficulty in reconciling their concepts of religion and science, he said. Religious thought could serve to aid in the theoretical explanations of those things for which pure science could not account.

"Religion is the oldest and the biggest business in the world to-day," he said. It deals in the most precious thing which one man can transmit to another.

This business of purveying religion and righteousness had been disturbed, there always had been, and always would be "bootlegging" in religion. But there were deeper currents than mere flurries.

"This is a material age," he said. "This is the age when men have taken the drama and ideals of former days and made them practical." It was a scientific age, with its corollary of scepticism.

There was a time when the people heard the church and believed all they heard. With a developing sense of questioning came the decision to sort out what they heard and select what they wished to believe as rational.

The factor most responsible for the present change of outlook was the theory of Charles Darwin. He had popularized sciences which had been studied by others before him. Dr. Boyle said, "Since then his theories had been extended."

Birthday Greetings Are Extended

To-day To—

JONATHAN WEBSTER CORNETT

J. W. CORNETT, M.P.P., who was born in Landsdowne, Ontario, in 1883, Mr. Cornett came to Vancouver in the early part of the present century. He became interested in public affairs and for six years was on the council of South Vancouver, serving three years as mayor. In 1928 he was elected to the B.C. Legislature. His home is in Vancouver where he is engaged in the boot and shoe business. He is also connected with various other business enterprises. He is a Conservative.

WARNING ON FILM QUOTA

Recent Production Full of Murder, Drinking and Gambling, Says Member

Features Must Be Eliminated to Warrant Popularity in British Columbia

A warning by George Walkin, Conservative, Vancouver, that better pictures than the British film he saw in Vancouver last week must be produced if they are to be popular in Canada, and an appeal by A. M. Manson, K.C., for the abolition of the Moving Picture Appeal Board, with the Board of Censors continuing, marked the discussion on the moving picture quota bill in the Legislature yesterday.

The bill gives the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council power to impose a quota of British films to be shown in British Columbia theatres. The percentage is not specified. Thomas Uppell adjourned the debate.

NOT GOOD FOR CHILDREN
Mr. Walkin thought there were too many U.S. educational films and was in favor of encouragement for British films. "But," he said, "in Vancouver during the week-end I saw a British film. It was full of murder, gambling and drinking. It should have never been shown where children were allowed to go. I object to that kind of film."

The mechanism was also criticized by Mr. W. M. McMillan, a soft English voice which did not record as well as the sharp nasal voice was not reproduced so that it could be properly understood, he claimed. Before British films could be shown where children were allowed to go, the unsavory features he had mentioned must be eliminated and voice recording perfected. The unsavory features were not healthy for children and he hoped the government would take power in its hands to bar that kind.

"George Arliss, an English actor, is producing wonderful pictures," commented the speaker, "but he had to go to Hollywood to do it."

APPEAL BOARD
Mr. Manson thought the objections mentioned by Mr. Walkin might be taken more often than they are. The censor barred many such films but their decisions were subject to reversal by the appeal board which, he claimed, had either not the knowledge or the judgment as to what should be eliminated and leaving it to the censor, who would be in touch with the Attorney General.

The board holds about $8,000 to the credit of the contractor, on account of work already done.

FIRM HONORED ON BIRTHDAY
Gainer's Limited, Victoria Branch, Hosts at Banquet Yesterday Evening

Birthday greetings were extended to Gainer's Limited of Victoria, on the first anniversary of the opening of the first branch of the firm at a special dinner tendered to the meat and grocery merchants in the Chamber of Commerce yesterday evening.

Alderman W. D. Todd expressed the hope the concern would continue to thrive here, after complimenting it on its first year's activities.

Rev. E. J. Church, guest, extended congratulations to John Gainer, Edmonton, founder and president of the company.

W. E. Edwards, manager of the Vancouver branch and chairman at yesterday's function, was introduced by A. G. Tillesen, Victoria manager.

Mr. Edwards extended a welcome to the guests, who numbered nearly 175. He spoke of the value of such evening in hospital and went home later, his injuries not being serious. Both cars were badly damaged.

Nanaimo, March 10.—Cecil Davis of Park Avenue was knocked unconscious yesterday evening in a car collision with Fred Pickle of Chase River at Bruce Avenue. Mr. Davis was taken to hospital and went home later, his injuries not being serious. Both cars were badly damaged.

PAYS FINE FOR RELIEF FRAUD

S. Beattie Admits Charge; Wife Had More Than $3,000 in Bank

Relief Only For Destitute Persons, Magistrate Explains

How a man obtained relief to the value of $2.50 from the city when his wife had a bank account of more than $3,000, was revealed in the City Police Court this morning when Samuel Beattie pleaded guilty to a charge of obtaining relief by false pretences. Magistrate George Jay imposed a fine of $25.

City Prosecutor C. L. Harrison told the court he thought the case was a very serious one. The defendant, he said, went to the city relief department on February 6, filling out an application form, on which he stated he had received only a small income from his work as a millman, that his wife had nothing, and his daughter a small monthly wage. He had not signed the declaration at this time, but returned on February 26 and had the form altered to show his wife's bank account in the Bank of Commerce, amounting to about $100.

Subsequent investigation showed that his wife had a bank account in Winnipeg and held shares in the B.C. Electric Railway Company and the defendant told the investigator he had not stated these facts because he did not wish anyone to know his business, except members of his own family.

The actual facts were, said Mr. Harrison, that Mrs. Beattie had $3,222 in Winnipeg bank, $115 in the Canadian Bank of Commerce here, and three shares in the B.C. Electric valued at $100 each.

The case had a more serious aspect in that the defendant had been in the past a relief fraud and had been prosecuted for relief frauds had been launched, the prosecutor said.

H. W. Davey, defence counsel, explained that his client had been out of work for eighteen months and had been living on his savings account. He was being taxed to provide relief for those who were not fortunate. The amount involved was only small, however, and the case could be met by imposition of a fine.

The magistrate stressed the fact that relief was only for destitute persons, not for those who had means. He was being taxed to provide relief for those who were not fortunate. The amount involved was only small, however, and the case could be met by imposition of a fine.

Faithful Old Police Clock To Be Retired

Timepiece Has Ticked Away the Hours in Charge Office for Thirty-five Years Now the Hands Are Failing and Pendulum Is Weak.

After thirty-five years' continuous service the old clock in the police station charge office will be retired.

For more than three decades it has looked down on offenders against society in all forms and sizes. Its faithful hands have clocked the hour for calls both important and unimportant, and it has recorded the arrival of some of the most notorious criminals.

Within a few days the old timepiece will be replaced by a more modern type. The familiar "tick-tick" which was often the only sound to keep the desk sergeant awake in those early morning hours when the city sleeps, will give way to a different note. And the faithful pendulum will be stopped forever. At the rate of once a second it must have swung back and forth something like 1,100,000 times since beginning its work in the police station. In point of service it is the oldest thing in the police force.

An Easter tea will be held on Saturday afternoon, March 19, from 3 to 5 o'clock at the New Thought Hall. Tea will be served and an excellent musical programme has been arranged. There will also be on sale Easter novelties which the post have been making. The committee in charge of the tea are Mrs. J. Lorimer, Mrs. T. P. Waters, Mrs. H. Dalziel and Miss E. Neelands. On March 23 the chief factor, Mrs. T. P. Waters, will entertain the members of Post No. 3 at her home at 1155 Pandora Avenue. All members are cordially invited to attend this social evening, which will take the place of the regular social usually held in the New Thought Hall.

To-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock a presentation will be made to the Bursar of three framed pictures commemorating the arrival of Governor Blanshard, the first governor of Victoria, in 1860. The pictures will be one of the governor himself, one of his ship the Driver, and one an etching of the fort and harbor as it appeared at that time.

Bobby Pearce Will Retire if He Wins Olympic Sculls Again

Great Australian Oarsman Says There Will Be Nothing Left to Do

World Champion Has No Intention of Entering Pro Ranks

Lindrum and Newman Amaze Canadian Fans With Their Skill

BOBBY PEARCE, the great Australian oarsman, is to retire after the Olympic Games at Los Angeles this summer. He says so himself. In a recent statement at Toronto, Pearce declared that if he wins the Olympic sculls at Los Angeles, he will retire. Pearce states he has no intention of joining the professional ranks, as there is nothing in the moneyed sport. "Well, why retire? Are you getting too old?" he was asked.

"No, I'm not getting too old," was the reply. "I'm only twenty-six years old now, but if I win again at the Olympics what else is there for me in the rowing game? I have won everything there is to win—the championship of Australia, the Diamond Sculls, the championship of the British Empire, the championship of the United States, the championship of Canada, and a second Olympic championship. Why go farther? Why hang on until some sculler I should be able to beat hands down comes along and beats me, and then the experts will say: 'Oh, well, he couldn't row any more.'"

Australian rowing authorities wanted Pearce to team up with Jack Goulding, a crack Australian single sculler coached by George Towns, and compete in the doubles at Los Angeles, but Pearce refused. He was asked why. "Do you know," he said, "without boasting, I think Goulding and I would have the same chance in the doubles as I, on my record, would have in the singles, but I refused to take the chance of competing in both. They think that Goulding and I, between us, might score a double for Australia. They might be right, but I looked back and saw what happened to Joe Wright at Amsterdam. I cabled back 'No.'"

"Joe Wright undertook a superhuman task when he tried to win the singles and doubles at the 1928 games. Where did he finish? He finished second in the doubles and nowhere in the singles. He rowed himself out trying to keep up in both events. He and Jack Guest are a pair of wonderful oarsmen, and they should have won the doubles at Amsterdam, but Canada lost both the doubles and singles because Wright was rowed out. I felt sorry for him when I looked back at what Wright tried to do and failed. I had my answer ready for Australia. One event for me."

Right now Pearce weighs 209 pounds and, according to reports, he looks better than he ever did. He weighed 160 pounds when he won the Diamond Sculls and the Olympic crown. He weighed 193 pounds when he toyed with the best in Canada and the United States at the Victoria regatta last summer. He expects to row at 193 at Los Angeles.

From the point of view of English billiards there are red-letter days for Canada. The tour of Walter Lindrum, world champion, and Tom Newman, former British titleholder, which commenced at Montreal on February 22, far exceeds in attractiveness any other similar venture of the past. True, there have been visits by Inman, Stevenson, Rees, Falkner, Gray and Smith, all of whom have occupied prominent places in the annals of the game. But now a couple of players, who outstripped all these, either of whom would be a sufficient attraction in himself, are on tour. Lindrum has successfully assaulted all the strongholds of the game, and he is regarded by common consent, to hold the premier position and it does not seem there is anyone in sight to challenge his supremacy.

The terms on which the matches on the Canadian tour are being played are usual—at any rate, in Canada. Instead of playing a definite number of points, they are handicapped on the time-limit of the game. Newman receiving a set number of points, Ottawa, Montreal and Toronto exponents of the game have been amazed at the speed and ease with which Lindrum piles up his score, while they have also admired Newman's slower and almost equal scoring power. In the match at Ottawa Lindrum took just under forty minutes to run up a neat break of 835, while the same day at a later session he took the same time to make 895.

Nothing definite has been decided yet as to whether or not the pair will be brought to Victoria, but it is hoped they will play here.

Waite Hoyt Now Club Dietitian

Chesterwater, Pa., March 10.—Waite Hoyt, the American League cast-off, not only is making a strong bid for a regular pitching berth with the Brooklyn Dodgers, but he is in a fair way to become the club's dietitian.

When the overweight members of the squad heard of Hoyt's diet, which brought him down near twenty pounds since last year, they began "thing it up." Hoyt, who already has lost twelve pounds by this method,

Light Blues Hope To Register Ninth Successive Victory

Oxford Representatives Will Have to Spring Decided Upset to Take Century-old Race on Historic Thames; Oxford's Rowing Morale at Low State; Will Be Climax to Great Sporting Week in England; Cambridge Has Won Forty-two Races and Oxford Forty

London, March 10.—On Saturday, March 19, after months of strict training, the varsity crews of Oxford and Cambridge will paddle to the starting line at Putney to battle it out along four and a quarter miles of the winding Thames in the eighty-fourth renewal of the classic boat race.

The race was first rowed in 1829, but did not become an annual affair for some years afterwards. The Light Blues enter the 1932 race with the psychological advantage of eight straight wins over Oxford. The standing, however, remains fairly close—forty-two wins for Cambridge, forty for Oxford and one drawn race.

The respective crews have been switched around even more than in the training spell that lasts from December until almost the day of the race. The Cambridge eight were not definitely named until two weeks before the race, alterations being made even after the "Blues" were awarded. The Oxford crew was likewise uncertain after months of practice. Both crews were handicapped by illness at different periods.

Cambridge will run a favorite, and an Oxford win would be surprising. Impartial critics assert, Oxford's rowing morale is at a low state. Col. Gibbon, a famous Cambridge coach, has been in charge of the Oxford crew, and he has not hesitated to make frequent changes. But the Dark Blues have been disappointing in practice, and one noted critic declares if Oxford is to win they will have to show a remarkable improvement in the last stage of training.

WALKER STARS IN NAVY WIN

Scores Three Goals in 5 to 1 Football Victory Over Garrison Eleven

Win Boosts Navy Lead in Pandey Cup Series; Hudson's Bay and Saanich Draw

Hanging up a decisive 5 to 1 victory over the Garrison yesterday afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park the Navy football eleven widened their lead to a full game in the Pandey Cup series of the Wednesday League. In the second game yesterday the Hudson's Bay and Saanich United fought to a 2 to 2 draw at Beacon Hill. The Navy now leads the series by a two-point margin over the Bays, with Saanich United and Garrison in third place, three points behind the departmentals.

Three fine goals by Walker, center-forward, featured the Navy's victory over the Garrison. In the early stages of the game the Garrison were on the attack and the match was still in its infancy when Stan Richard broke through to score their one and only goal.

THE SCORE

From this stage the Navy held the whip hand and it was not long before they were back on even terms. Grierson taking a pass from Walker to beat Glendenning. This ended the scoring for the Navy, leaving the team in a tie at the interval.

Four minutes after the resumption of play the Navy went into the lead, Walker taking a pass from Cosier to whip the ball into the net. The Navy remained on the attack and Cosier netted their third goal with a long shot from left wing. Before the final whistle Walker had twice tricked his way through the Garrison defense for goals.

Newson referred. The teams follow: Navy—Zarlin, Whyte, Hibbert, McDonald, Roberts, Dovey, Cosier, Grierson, Walker, Marr and Wilson. Garrison—Glendenning, Burgess, Lindsay, McArthur, Scanlan, Quinn, Buncock, S. Richard, R. Richard, Edwards and Forbes.

Rallying after being two goals down the Hudson's Bay earned a draw with Saanich. For the first two minutes of the match Saanich were all over the Bays. After ten minutes of play the United went into the lead when Burns accepted a pass from Tooby to beat Stimpson. From close quarters.

Still on the offensive, Saanich took two goals up, Brown taking a pass from Wyatt to drive the ball between the posts. Two goals down the Bays headed down and forced play into Saanich territory. With half-time drawing near the Bays launched a determined attack that produced a pair of goals. The first one came from the boot of Davis, while the second was credited to the same player, who rushed in to boot home a rebound from a shot by Fish.

Play in the second half was fairly evenly divided, with both clubs missing fine chances to get through for the winning goal.

ZUNIGA WINNER OVER JOE CONDE

San Francisco, March 10.—Martin Zuniga, clever Los Angeles featherweight, gave Joe Conde, San Francisco, a boxing lesson here yesterday evening to score a well-earned ten-round victory.

Conde in the first round nearly floored Zuniga with a right to the jaw. The boy from the south put on speed and boxed rings around his opponent until the finish.

Toronto Leafs To Battle Canadiens

DEAN FAILS TO PRODUCE

Former in Need of Victory Over World Hockey Champions This Evening

Boston Bruins Will Tackle Chicago at Hub City; Rangers Meet Americans

Toronto, March 10.—The National Hockey League spotlight remains in the East to-night for three games in Montreal, Boston and New York. Two intra-group and one inter-group fixture round out the programme with Chicago's visit to Boston and Toronto's invasion of Montreal holding the major interest.

Four points in the rear of Canadiens, Maple Leafs are greatly in need of a victory to-night when they play at the forum. Judging from the performances of Maroons in the last night the Toronto club will have no easy task in garnering two points and pulling within striking distance of the world champions.

Boston Bruins have their chance of climbing into third place in the American group when they are hosts to Chicago. With a game in hand over Detroit Falcons, a victory to-night for the Bruins will place them in third place, a single point ahead of Detroit and some distance behind Chicago.

RANGERS MEET AMERKS

The New York City rivalry of Rangers and Americans will be renewed for the first time this season when the Patrickmen and the Gerard-coached club meet for the second last time. The game will be of little importance as Rangers have clinched a play-off berth in the American section and Americans are out of the running in the Canadian group.

The Canadiens' teams have been built around Morenz. He is the central figure in their always flashy and speedy attack and he plays no little role in their defence. His exceptional speed aids him both in offensive playing and back-checking for defensive work.

When he gets off on one of his dashes with the puck there is no player in the league who can catch him. There are a few who can cause Morenz some annoyance with their poke, sweep and hook checks, but when it comes to fast skating, well, there is only one Morenz.

Morenz is credited with some sort of record for skating around a regulation sized rink pushing the puck along with his hockey stick. The time was supposed to be something like 16 2-5 seconds and a regulation rink is about 185 feet long and eighty-five feet wide. And while pulling his stunt Howie was not allowed to have the puck more than ten feet from the edge of his hockey stick at any time.

WINDSOR IN THIRD PLACE

Toronto, March 10.—Windsor Bulldogs are to-day sole occupants of third place in the International Hockey League race. Trouncing Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets in Windsor yesterday evening, Bulldogs moved a notch ahead of Detroit and at present are only three points behind the second place London Tecumsehs.

Curbed for two periods by a stubborn Pittsburgh defence, Windsor's scoring might broke out in full fashion in a wild third-period rally which netted five goals. Going into the final period with the score tied 2 to 2, Bulldogs spurred a rugged offensive attack and banged in five goals to a single score for Jackets and won handily 7 to 2.

Havana Scene Of Davis Cup Series

Havana, March 10.—Australia's and Cuba's Davis Cup tennis teams will play their first round matches here May 13, 14 and 15. The Cuban National Tennis Association announced to-day. The Cuban team will be selected in elimination play, which probably will be held late in April.

PAT O'SHOCKER WINS ON A FOUL

Boston, March 10.—Pat O'Shocker, Salt Lake City, wrestler, won on a foul from Jack Washburn, Los Angeles, yesterday evening after the latter scored the only fall with a flying mare and body slam in 10:41. Washburn kicked his opponent to the mat. O'Shocker weighed 218 and Washburn scaled 220.

PICK OF THE PACK

Howie Morenz, of the Montreal Canadiens, is still regarded as the best forward in the National Hockey League after five years of brilliant performance. Managers and players alike have agreed that Howie is worthy of the mythical all-time honors. And when rivals are willing to hand out such compliments there certainly must be a good reason.

The Canadiens' teams have been built around Morenz. He is the central figure in their always flashy and speedy attack and he plays no little role in their defence. His exceptional speed aids him both in offensive playing and back-checking for defensive work.

Jim Londos Throws Davis Court Easily

Los Angeles, March 10.—Jim Londos, New York, 201, threw Dick Daviscourt, 225, in two straight falls in a wrestling match at the Olympic auditorium here to-night. Daviscourt, Vista, Calif., farmer, went down the first time with an airplane spin in 26:43, and the second time with a body slam in 1:29.

Rowing Club To Meet To-morrow

Oarsmen of the James Bay Athletic Association will gather at the Gorge clubhouse to-morrow evening at 9 o'clock to arrange plans for the year's activities and elect a captain, vice-captain and rowing committee.

BENNY BASS BEATEN

St. Louis, March 10.—Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, Mich., outpointed Benny Bass of Philadelphia, in a ten-round bout here yesterday evening.

Senior City Rugby Will Be Played March 28

Winners of Canadian Scottish-James Bay Athletic Association Battle Saturday to Clash With Navy in City Final on Easter Monday; Abandon Plans to Have McKechnie Cup Game Here March 25; Rounsfell Cup Match May Be Played in City April 2; Intermediate Final Tentatively Set for March 19

Senior city rugby champions will be crowned on Easter Monday, it was announced by Victoria Rugby Union officials to-day after further consideration of dates for remaining important fixtures. A move to have the next McKechnie Cup game, between Vancouver and Victoria on March 26 here on Good Friday, was dropped to-day when it was learned the rugby people could not secure the Royal Athletic Park grounds on that day.

Further arrangements for big games included—the tentative selection of March 19 for the intermediate city championship. Should the University School defeat the Wanderers in their crucial second-half battle at Mount Toulon on Saturday, they will take the field against Victoria College next week at the Royal Athletic Park for the city crown. The fixture, like the Barnard Cup game, will be a benefit affair for injured players.

This Saturday Canadian Scottish and James Bay Athletic Association teams will battle in the deciding fixture in the second-half race. The winner will play the Navy, first-half champions, on Easter Monday for the Victoria senior title. The date of the play-off is being delayed in order to give the sailors a chance to field their strongest team. Some of the players will arrive back in town at the end of next week.

BOTH FORMER CHAMPIONS

Both the Scottish and the Bays have formerly held the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the city title. They should put up a terrific battle to work their way into the final.

Tentative arrangements are also under way to have the Rounsfell Cup final, symbolic of the provincial club championship, played here on April 2. Charles Morton and Arthur Cox were elected representatives from the union yesterday evening to meet the parks committee, with other delegates from sporting organizations of the city, to request that grounds be fixed in the new grandstand at the Royal Athletic Park.

VOTE OF THANKS

A vote of thanks was passed to Dr. Ken Darbyshire for the services he had rendered to Jerry Boone, Canadian all-star, injured in the game here last week, and a message of sympathy was passed to Referee H. A. "Tommy" Tomlin, who sustained a broken ankle while refereeing the fixture.

TIGER DAULA MEETS SAVAGE

Clash in Main Event of Big Wrestling Card at Willows Saturday Evening

Final arrangements have been made for the staging of the wrestling show at the Willows Horse Show Building on Saturday evening under the auspices of the Tillam Athletic Club. Three line bouts have been arranged with Tiger Daula, big Hindu grappler, meeting Steve Savage, Chicago, in the eight-round event. The first bout will start at 8:30 o'clock.

Commencing at 8 o'clock Bola Singh will give half an hour's exhibition of club swinging. The Sixteenth Canadian Scottish band will be in attendance and one of the largest crowds of the season is anticipated.

The program have arranged for a special street car service. Starting at 7 o'clock the Willows cars will leave every seven minutes.

In the other two bouts on the card Rocky Brooks, Victoria heavyweight, will meet Dick Rains, Texas, in five rounds, while "Wild Bill" Logan, Portland, will go up against Nenjo Singh. The promoter will make their first appearances here.

BAYS TO PLAY SEATTLE TEAMS

In what promises to be one of the best hoop programmes arranged by the club this year, James Bay Athletic Association basketball squads will clash with two Bon Marche quintettes from Seattle, while the Bays meet the Commercial at the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday evening.

In the curtain-raiser at 7:30 o'clock the Bays girls will clash with the Bon Marche first string fair sex squad, while three-quarters of an hour later the clubmen will stack up against the Seattle department store's team.

The final, at 9 o'clock will see the city champions and runners-up in action. The Bon Marche girls have not been defeated to-day in the Seattle Girls' Basketball League, while the men are tied for third place in the Sound City Commercial League, A division.

Following the games a dance will be held for the players at the J.B.A.A. Gorge clubhouse.

SCOTTISH PRACTICE

All members of the Canadian Scottish rugby team are requested to attend a special workout at the Armory this evening at 8 o'clock. The practice will be the final one before the big league fixture against the James Bay Athletic Association at the Royal Athletic Park on Saturday.

Cambridge Crew Makes Fast Time

London, March 10.—Cambridge University eight, practicing for the historic boat race with Oxford a week from Saturday, put in an excellent performance yesterday afternoon, racing a mile in three minutes and fifty-four seconds, and covering the distance from Putney to Hammersmith Bridge, a mile and five furlongs, in seven minutes. These times were a few seconds within the records.

Oxford mostly paddled, but tried two one-minute bursts, getting in thirty strokes on each occasion.

LANGFORD IN NET VICTORY

Defeat Christ Church Number Two Badminton Team 11 to 5 in Good Match

Matches in the Lower Island Badminton League are just about completed. Christ Church No. 2 and Langford met yesterday evening at the Memorial Hall in the last scheduled match of the third division and the latter won 11 to 5 to finish, tied for second place with the North Saanich club.

Christ Church No. 1 have been declared the winners in the third division, the Hudson's Bay Beavers' team in the fourth, Victoria section, the Duncan Badminton Club, the winners of the fourth for the Duncan section, while the Willows have annexed the honors in the second division. One match remains in the first division and it will be played shortly. Willows can tie up the standing by winning, while a tie or loss will see the honors pass to the hands of the defending Duncan squad.

Langford women sent their team into the lead in their match with Christ Church, when they won three of the four matches. Three of the men's doubles were also taken by the Langford players to win the lead. Five of the eight mixed doubles completed the Langford scoring for their total of eleven.

Results follow, with the Christ Church players being named first.

OAKES WINNER OVER CAMERON

Defending Champ in City Billiard Championship Victor By 400 to 282

Sam Oakes, defending champion in the city amateur English billiard championship, hurdled one of the most serious threats to his title yesterday evening at the Metropolitan Billiard Parlor, when he defeated Neal "Sharkey" Cameron, 400 to 282. A large gallery witnessed the match.

Oakes was in real form and after taking an early lead was never in danger. His best break was a forty-seven. Cameron managed to keep fairly even with the champion in the early stages but gradually slipped back as the match progressed.

The championship will continue this evening with P. C. Hoffman meeting A. Bradford at 8:30 o'clock.

After one of the finest men's senior "B" basketball games witnessed here for some time, West Road, Victoria and district champions, nosed out Ladysmith 26 to 23 at the Victoria High School gym yesterday evening to win the Vancouver Island title from the up-landers by a total score 53 to 49. West Road have been seeking this title for years. Several times they have been declared champions locally only to fall by the wayside in the Island play-offs. ## ABIE ISRAEL BEATS KIMURA

Seattle Featherweight Cops Decision From Japanese; Fraser Whips Bennett

Seattle, March 10.—Abie Israel, Seattle featherweight, took a six-round decision over Kiyosoko Kimura, Sacramento Japanese, in the final portion of a double main event of the boxing card here yesterday evening.

Israel took five of the six rounds. He was a practically damageless fighter throughout. Abie had an advantage in reach, and the little Japanese had difficulty in getting to him. The Seattle boy bothered Kimura with a straight jab, but was disappointed in his inability to get a decisive win.

Don Fraser, Spokane, veteran welterweight, handed out a decisive beating to Leon and Bennett, Detroit, in the other half of the main show. Bennett would not let Fraser box, so the Spokane lad slugged with him and beat Bennett at his own game.

Frank Man Hee, Seattle heavyweight, outpointed Red Tingley, Bellingham, to take the decision in a six-round slugfest. Tingley was on the floor for an eight-count in the fourth.

Pastor Calope, Manila, won over Phil Trudeau, Vancouver, featherweight, in a fourth round scarp.

M.A.A.A. are senior champions of the province and Lafontaine intermediate titleholders. The second game will be played Sunday afternoon, and the third, if necessary, next Wednesday. The winner of this series will meet the Maritime titleholder here in the Allan Cup elimination.

International Meet Planned For Calgary

Calgary, March 10.—Olympic athletes from South Africa, Great Britain, Germany and Scandinavian countries will take part in an international track meet at Calgary's new stadium late in August if a favorable decision on the proposal is made by the Canadian Olympic committee. C. A. Hayden, president of the Calgary Central Sports Association, declared to-day that the international meet had been proposed by his organization.

"The matter has been submitted to M. M. Robinson, president of the Canadian Olympic committee, and we anticipate a favorable decision," Mr. Hayden said.

Mr. Hayden added that the quarter-mile track at the new stadium, completed recently, would be extended to six lanes to meet Olympic requirements. The track would be the best for the international meet and the provincial Olympic trials, scheduled for June, if they were held in Calgary, he concluded.

LIFE-SAVING TEST BILLED

Junior Competitors to Seek Ansonsb Cup at Gala Monday Evening

Preceding the regular races in Monday evening's Vancouver Island Swimming League gala at the Crystal Garden, young exponents of life-saving will strive for the coveted Ansonsb Cup. It was announced yesterday evening by R. W. Hibernson, president of the league.

The youngsters, all under the age of sixteen, will demonstrate methods of rescue and release, towing, resuscitation and diving for a weight.

J. D. McNeill and Warren Long, leaders of the Royal Life Saving Society branch here, will judge the competition, which will start at 7 o'clock.

Life-saving has been arousing considerable interest in the swimming fraternity here and good exhibitions of the various methods of rescue and release are expected to be given.

The trophy was donated some time ago by Herbert Ansonsb for annual competition.

Bobby Shortens Grip to Approach

By SOL METZGER

The well-executed approach shot from a distance of forty or fifty yards is one of the most satisfying in golf. Buy it is the shot, said to say, which most that any other causes the duff to lift his head.

A common failing is to handle the club too loosely on this play. Bobby Jones gives the perfect example to follow. You may not feel it necessary to imitate the stance he employs for it is a narrow one—but in the matter of gripping the club and swinging you cannot do better than to follow him.

He takes hold of the club at the bottom of the leather. This makes manipulation of it easy, and this adds to accuracy. The backswing, controlled by the straight left arm and hand, is slow and there is no hurry in the downswing until the ball is about to be hit. Every factor has now conduced to sending the ball in the exact direction required. A one-putt green may result.

If you are interested in improving your game, Sol Metzger has a new leaflet on "How to Practice," which he will send to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger in care of this paper, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Birdie By Armour Wins Golf Honors

Veteran Scot and Ed. Dudley Defeat Burke and Golden in Fourball Final

Are Both $750 Richer By Their 3 to 2 Victory; Second Title For Armour

Miami, Fla., March 10.—Tommy Armour, British open champion, and Ed. Dudley, Concordville, Pa., dug their way through the rain and mud of the Miami Country Club course yesterday to win 3 and 2, their thirty-six-hole final match with Billy Burke, national open champion, and Johnny Golden, Noroton, Conn., in the $5,000 international fourball tournament.

Armour dropped a birdie 4 into the cup of the thirty-fourth hole to end the match.

The championship gave Armour and Dudley $750 each. Their opponents earned $250 each as runners-up.

It was Tommy's second major title in the winter golf season here. He won the Miami open tournament January 3.

GAIN EARLY LEAD
Armour and Dudley eked out a two-hole lead on the first nine. Armour sank a birdie 4 on the first and Dudley dropped a 3 into the cup for a birdie on the third hole. He had a chance on the seventh but missed it to take a 5 with Armour, and Burke sank his fourth for a birdie. Armour won back the advantage on the ninth with a par 4, while the rest took 5's.

Dudley gained a birdie 3 on the thirteenth to send his team 3 up, but ran into a string of one-putt greens as Golden offered his only bid of the tournament.

Golden halved the fourteenth with a 4, took birdies to win the fifteenth and sixteenth and halved the seventeenth. Burke came into the breach at the eighteenth and dropped a birdie 3 to win the hole and send his team 1 up. They halved the remaining holes through the twenty-seventh.

Armour dropped a six-foot putt, after a nice approach, on the twenty-eighth and won the hole. Dudley sank a 3 with Burke at the twenty-ninth to halve, and all hands took 4's on the thirtieth and thirty-first. Burke had a 5 at the thirty-second but Golden saved him with a 4 to halve it.

They took 3's on the thirty-third. Driving into the rough on the thirty-fourth, Armour pulled his second shot, a full baser, on to the green and sank his fourth.

Slight Improvement In Wheat Prices In Featureless Market

Canadian Press
Winnipeg, March 10.—Wheat: Lifting fractionally by a buying rally in the closing minutes of the session, wheat prices emerged from a wavering trade to close 1/4 higher in other featureless market.
May closed at 67 1/2; July at 69 1/2, and October at 71.
Not more than a handful of export business could be traced to the pit. Operations were light and unimportant for the great part of the session.
Foreign news again was bullish. Italy increased the quota on wheat to 10 per cent and there were re-

To-day's Grain Markets

WINNIPEG

(By Logan & Bryan)
Winnipeg, March 10.—Wheat: The market was quiet and featureless with only a little local trade passing. Prices held within a narrow range of 1/4, being 1/4 lower to 1/4 higher. At the start there was light buying that was credited to some scattered small orders over night through Vancouver, which was understood to be for Japan, but the volume was insignificant. Seaboard estimated total sales from 300,000 to 400,000 bushels, mostly hard winters. There was nothing doing in the cash market, and all spreads were unchanged. The market appears to be in a rut, export sales are disappointing and the local crowd appears to have adopted a waiting attitude. Opinions on wheat are apparently worthless. The market was all fixed for a break on U.S. Government figures of farm reserves, but settling and cable-tweeted things around again. Wheat situation is apparently bullish everywhere except in North America, more especially in the U.S.

Look for the market to continue to work over its recent narrow range until something develops to get it out of the rut, which will probably be a change in the soft wheat states will do some complaining, as this cold snap has caught them with little or no snow covering in many places, but if damage is not more than normal and the U.S. pulls over an average winter wheat crop, there is going to be a long, steady farm board wheat stored at Canadian ports and what they have stored in places not in visible make the latter much larger than the visible figures of 207,000,000 bushels suggest.

Brooklyn reported that the admiral of foreign wheat in Italy will be increased 30 per cent starting March 21, with southern mills using 70 per cent of foreign wheat. France also reports light offerings of native wheat with prices advancing, which may result in a further increase in foreign quota from the present 25 per cent.

Winnipeg futures 1/4 higher.
Contingent grain—These markets were steady to firm. A little export business in barley and oats was confirmed, and while there was some inquiry for rye, no sales were reported.

Oats closed 1/4 lower, barley 1/4 higher to unchanged and rye 1/4 to 1/2 higher.
Flax—This market was a little easier, most of the day, closing 1/4 to 1/2 lower. Liverpool due 1/4 to 1/2 higher, based on Winnipeg.

NARROW LOSSES AT MONTREAL

Montreal, March 10.—Narrow losses were recorded among leaders of the Montreal stock market at the close of trading today. It was a dull session with little significance to be taken from the small changes that came out.

The widest break in price was provided by Vint Blauit preferred, which sold down 1/2 on the day, and in its appearance in some time. The preferred issue was quite active at that price around the close.

International Nickel slipped 1/2 point to 9 1/2, and Canada Cement at 6 1/2 was also off 1/2. Canadian Pacific was steady at 20 1/2. Yesterday's final price and Brazilian moved narrowly, closing down 1/4 at 14 1/2. Smelters came out at 72, off a full point. National Steel Car dropped 1/2 to 11 1/2, and Winnipeg Electric eased 1/2 to 5 1/2 on a late sale.

B.C. Power "B" improved slightly advancing 1/2 to 13. Montreal Power was traded at the posted price, 36, unchanged. Alcohol, Cockshutt, Canadian Car preferred and a few other issues held unchanged.

IRREGULAR ON TORONTO MINES

Toronto, March 10.—Irregularity marked action on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market from the opening to-day, with a slightly stronger tone, evidence in some groups towards the close.

Noranda featured forenoon trading and retained an advance of another 1/2 throughout the day, establishing a new high for the year of 810. International Nickel slipped 20, and Treadwell Yukon came out 22 1/2, off 30. Eldorado finished up three on the day, and closed at 11 1/2.

Among higher-priced goods Teck, Hughes and Dome made small gains, but Lake Shore, Hollinger and Wright-Hargreaves lost a little ground. Vint-Blaug sold at 35, up three, and Slocan, Moffatt-Hall and Canana firmed a cent or so apiece.

Alcan. advancing four, displayed the only change in a dull oil session.

NORANDA SOARS AT VANCOUVER

Vancouver, March 10.—Trading in the higher-priced issues featured the morning session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange to-day. Noranda soared to a new high for the year at 810 with a turnover of fifty shares. Coast Breweries and Nickel were also traded. Brevities were displayed a weaker tone. Breweries was selling at 88 1/2 while Nickel lost about 50 cents to 85 1/2.

Lorne Gold was also active, opening at 14 1/2, gaining to 14 3/4 and later dropping to 14 1/2. Bridge River was selling at 14 1/2. Metaline Metals was the same at 11 1/2. Pend Oreille retained a point loss of yesterday to 81 1/2 and Premier Gold was in demand at 61.

In the oil, Crown's Nest held some interest, selling at 2 1/2 and 2 3/4. C. and E. was the same at 2 1/2 and Fabian Pete sold at 1 1/4.

Rules this morning were:
Listed—800 C. and E. Corp. at 2 1/2, 400 Fabian Pete at 1 1/4, 200 Metaline at 11 1/2, 100 Premier Gold at 11 1/2, 100 Pend Oreille at 81 1/2, 100 Noranda at 810, 100 Coast Breweries at 88 1/2, 100 Nickel at 85 1/2, 100 Lorne Gold at 14 1/2, 100 Bridge River at 14 1/2, 100 Metaline Metals at 11 1/2, 100 Pend Oreille at 81 1/2, 100 Premier Gold at 61.

A two-sided market is indicated, but with some business developing on the seaboard, think this gives a much better basis for breaking buying. Argentine shipments were estimated at 3,100,000 bushels. Oats—Trade slow, but tone rather steady and at present there is but little pressure of oats from the country. There is said to be some inquiry from abroad for Canadian oats.

Rye: Trade was a little slower today, with fair buying on seaboard. Russia shipped 429,600 bushels. Continue to favor buying on dips.

TUBE REACHES NEW SENSITIVITY

Portable Electric Cardiograph Made Possible By High Vacuum Achievement

Boston, March 5.—A vacuum tube a thousand times more sensitive than its predecessors in the measurement of minute voltages was announced here by G. P. Metcalf and T. M. Dickinson of the vacuum engineering department of the General Electric Company at a meeting of the American Physical Society at Cambridge. The new "low noise" vacuum tube differs particularly from the usual tube in the degree of vacuum that has been attained. In the ordinary tube the gas pressure within the tube is of the order of a millionth of atmospheric pressure. The new tube, reducing noise between 100 and 1,000-fold, makes it possible to measure accurately voltages as small as one millionth of a volt, and to detect voltages ten times smaller, at any frequency from zero (direct current) to a million or more cycles per second.

One of the first applications of the new tube has been in the portable electro-cardiograph produced by the General Electric X-ray Corporation. Contraction of the heart muscles is accompanied or preceded by an electric manifestation. When a muscle contracts its electric potential or voltage differs from that of a muscle at rest. If two points of the body of the patient are connected through a sensitive measuring device, such as a galvanometer, the instrument indicates the pulsations or beats of the heart. The cardiograph records these voltage variations of the order of a millionth of a volt, so that an analysis of heart action can be obtained. The "low noise" tube has made possible a portable electro-cardiograph that is free from circuit disturbances.

King Charles Clocks At Loan Collection

London.—On his death-bed King Charles II apologized to his courtiers for being "such an unconscionable long time dying." He might also have apologized for having so many clocks in the room to call attention to his slowness. King Charles had over sixty clocks in the room, ticking discordantly.

A representation of this room is among the displays at the Charles II loan exhibition here. Five pictures left by the King from Hampton Court have already arrived at the exhibition rooms. A large space in the exhibition is devoted to the activities of Pepys, the diarist. His gaming-board and the Admiralty minutes written by him will be among the exhibits.

LAMENT OF AN INDIAN CAPTIVE

Far from the woods and the shore-line,
Far from my home by the sea,
Lonely and lost on the prairie,
Weeping I cry over the sea.

"Where are the pines on the cliff-side?
Where are they, tattered and torn;
Torn by the raging of tempests,
Standing alone and forlorn?"

"Where is the foam of the ocean,
Spraying wide over the strands?
Where are the scents of the spruce-woods?
Where the grey, glittering sands?"

"Where is my home in the forest,
Looking out over the bay?
Where are the tents of my people?
Where are the children at play?"

Gone! Gone are the forests and ocean.
Gone are those tents by the sea.
Gone where I never can find them,
As, cursing, I cry over the sea.

"Fall on the heads of this people,
O bolts of brimstone and fire!
Crush to the dust those who dragged me
Far from the land of my sire!"

Never again go I westward,
Mountains between us now lie;
Flat plains stretch ever before me;
Vultures alone hear my cry.

DE SOTO SIX TO MAKE BOW

New Car to Be Shown on the Main Floor of Hudson's Bay Company To-morrow

The brilliant new De Soto Six makes its bow in Victoria at a special showing to be held on the main floor of the Hudson's Bay Company this week, commencing to-morrow.

Strikingly individual in appearance and presenting highly advanced features of operation and construction, this new product of the De Soto Motor Corporation of Canada offers a degree of driving convenience entirely new to its class. It co-ordinates the outstanding engineering improvements of today in a car of perfectly balanced design and performance.

The 1932 De Soto is instantly recognizable by the alert dash of its rounded racing car radiator and the sweeping beauty of its European custom type hood and deep, overhanging fenders. It is fully as original and advanced as a performer, offering flashing acceleration and more than seventy miles an hour stopwatch speed, with a seventy-five-horse-power, six-cylinder engine.

ENGINEERING FEATURES

The principal engineering features that so individualize the new De Soto Six are: Floating power; automatic clutch with silent gear selector; free wheeling; constant mesh transmission; double drop, x-girder-braced frame; safety steel body; weatherproof hydraulic brakes with the extra life of the new centrifugal brake drums, and 150-therm aluminum alloy pistons.

Nine body models, five standard and four custom types, comprise the new line. The standard models are the two-door sedan; the four-door sedan, the roadster, the coupe and rumble seat coupe. The custom line includes the five-passenger sedan, the roadster, the convertible coupe and the convertible sedan.

All are available in a wide range of striking colors; all are smartly tailored in the most advanced style with interior appointments and fittings in keeping with drawing-room correctness. Special attention has been paid to the niceties of detail in the finish of the upholstery, the selection of hardware and other items of particular interest to the discriminating feminine motorist.

The new De Soto six-cylinder engine is of the generally approved L-head design now used by 80 per cent of automobile manufacturers.

Floating power, that newly-discovered principle of engine mounting now generally acclaimed as the outstanding development in automotive engineering in recent years, especially distinguishes the new De Soto from an engineering viewpoint.

SILENT GEAR SELECTION

In silent gear selection De Soto presents a new, effortless ease of motor-ing by skillful co-ordination of the benefits of the automatic clutch, free wheeling and constant mesh transmission gears.

Silent gear selection permits shifting without clashing or noise into and out of any gear, without touching the conventional clutch. The low-slung, racy appearance of this new car is due fundamentally to the outstanding merits of its double drop, x-girder-braced frame.

While providing the maximum in headroom and road clearance, this type of construction gives such low centre of gravity as to maintain equilibrium even when tipped at a 46 degree angle. De Soto's frame possesses many times the strength and rigidity of ordinary construction, and because of low swung weight eliminates side slipping and weaving.

An unusual safety feature in the De Soto permits the locking of all doors on the inside as protection against the stoppage of a burglar. Locking is accomplished by a simple upturn of the door levers. The De Soto driver may lock himself in, but he cannot lock himself out, as exterior locking is done in the conventional way.

Thomas Plimley Limited, 1010 Yates Street, dealers for De Soto and Chrysler motor cars, will display the new De Soto at their showrooms next week.
